3 DIE AS MEYER SETS RECORD TO TAKE AUTO RACE

Victor Hailed by 100,000 and Collects $12,000 as First Prize.

By CHARLES DUNKLEY.

Speedway, Indianapolis, May 30 (A.P.).—Death took the wheel of speeding race cars today as Louis Meyer, 28-year-old son of Huntington Park, Calif., rode to victory in the 500-mile automobile race over the Indianapolis motor speedway, joining rank with Tommy Milton as the only man who ever won the race twice.

While the cheers of 100,000 spectators were proclaiming Meyer in triumph, two young men lay dead and two others were injured, one of whom died in a hospital a few hours afterward. The victims were Mark Billman, 30, Indianapolis driver; Lester Spangler, 27, Los Angeles, driver, and G. L. Jordan, 27-year-old mechanic, of Lafayette, Ind., who succumbed to injuries sustained when two of the cars in the race crashed over the retaining wall on the treacherous turn of the 2½-mile brick track.

Beats Frame's Mark.

Meyer rode the 500 miles in 4:48.55, for an average of 104.162 miles an hour, breaking all records. He eclipsed the performance of Freddie Frame, of Los Angeles, winner of the 1932 race, who won that event at an average of 104.144 miles per hour. Meyer's performance was regarded as amazing considering the fact that the race was twice slowed down, with the drivers traveling at a snail's pace, while the track was being cleared of wrecked cars.

Billman, fatally injured when his car, traveling at record-breaking speed, crashed into the retaining wall on the northeast turn, skidded to the top and hung there, the front wheels remaining on the track and the rear wheels hanging over the wall. With the first terrific impact, the side of the car which Billman was driving was crushed like a paper box. Billman's left arm was caught and horribly mangled. He was rushed to the emergency hospital where physicians amputated his arm in an attempt to save his life. He died an hour later.

Cars in Collision.

Spangler and Jordan, who was riding as a mechanic for Spangler, died of their injuries after a car driven by Spangler crashed into the car driven by Malcombe Fox, of Westville, N. J., which had skidded into the middle of the track after losing a wheel on the south turn. Spangler's car, going swiftly, could not be stopped or turned away from the disabled machine. He crashed headlong into it, then shot to the top of the track, with both cars plunging over the wall, falling 20 feet below. Jordan died an hour later and Spangler, several hours later. Fox was not so seriously injured.

Tragedy stalked into the race soon after it started. First, Freddie Frame, the 1932 winner, after leading, was

Gehrig's Protested Clout Nips Nats, 3-2

Umpire Rules Ball Fair for Homer, Amazing 16,000 Fans; Griffith Wires Protest to League President Harridge.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH,
(Sports Editor of The Post).

The New York Yankees and Umpire Brick Owens succeeded in beating the Nats yesterday, 3-2, between rain drops and pop bottles. The Yanks scored two runs on their own account and Owens scored their third on a decision that was as foul as the ball that Lou Gehrig hit over the right field fence in the eighth inning.

Sixteen thousand fans and the Washington team saw the ball sail foul by feet into the trees to the right of the foul line and they called it foul, but Umpire Owens outvoted them.

Then ensued an old-fashioned wrangle at the plate, with three pop bottles tossed from the stands lending a little local color. It was the old story of the Nats vs. the Yanks in an atmosphere charged with fight, but on this occasion Umpire Owens was the object of the Nats' verbal attack.

Even Lou Gehrig seemed agreeably surprised when he paused after rounding first base to learn that Umpire Owens had called his clout fair. Thus reassured, he continued his majestic strut around the bases.

But when the full import of Owens' decision had dawned upon the fans and the Nats alike, the 16,000 in the stands were shaken loose from their sanity, while Manager Cronin and the other Nats who were handy poured their protests upon the hapless umpire-in-chief.

Cronin dashed into the plate at the first realization that Owens had called the ball fair. Outraged, he paused to explode his wrath in Owens' face and then dashed down the first base line to appeal to Umpire Van Grafian, attempting to drage him

U.S. ECONOMIC BODY WILL LEAVE TODAY

Roosevelt Completes London Delegation With Couzens and Morrison.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN

The American delegation to the World Economic and Monetary Conference was finally completed late last night with the formal announcement that the last two members would be Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, and Ralph W. Morrison, of Texas. The group will leave for New York this morning to sail on the steamer President Roosevelt shortly after noon for London.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull will be chairman of the delegation and former Gov. James M. Cox, of Ohio, will be vice chairman. It is believed possible that the Secretary may find himself forced to curtail his stay in London, and in that event, Gov. Cox will assume direction of the President's representatives. The other delegates will be Senator Key Pittman and Representative Samuel D. McReynolds, of Tennessee.

William Christian Bullitt will be the executive officer of the delegation charged with the general administrative detail of the party. Mr. Bullitt is a special assistant to Secretary Hull, who was in the department of State during the Wilson administration, and an advisor at the Versailles Conference. James P. Warburg, of the Bank of Manhattan Trust Co., will be the financial adviser to the delegation, and Fred K. Nielsen, who has been the American umpire on several international claim commissions, will be the legal adviser. The economist of the department of State, Herbert Feis, will be the chief technical adviser.

An imposing panel of fourteen experts also will accompany the delegation. Three of them are already in Geneva attending the sessions of the wheat conversations now going on in Geneva between the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia. They are Henry Morgenthau, sr., Frederick E. Murphy and George C. Haas. Edmund E. Day was one of

War Hero Plunges To Death in Plane

Boston, May 30 (A.P.).—J. Oliver Beebe, 40, World War hero and wealthy Boston leather merchant, plunged 400 feet to his death today in an airplane in which he was making his first solo flight. Several thousand persons, including Beebe's 9-year-old son and 6-year-old daughter, witnessed the tragedy near East Boston airport.

Mr. Beebe had been flying with an instructor earlier in the day, and just prior to his solo attempt had taken the children and nurse for a flight.

Mr. Beebe was graduated from Harvard in 1916, and was cited for bravery by both the French and American governments during his service as an ambulance driver in the World War.

One Killed and 5 Shot As Gunmen Invade Cafe

New York, May 30 (A.P.).—Four gunmen blazed away at ten persons playing cards in the Castle Cafe on First avenue tonight, killing one and wounding five others.

The dead man, identified by papers in his pocket, was Charles Dominico, 22, known as "Buster," a resident of the neighborhood. The wounded men described themselves as Benny Blaustein, 15; Lahuto Ignazio, 20; Vito Benedetti, 20; Irving Marmer, 18, and Salvatore Ferry, 22. They were taken to Bellevue Hospital in two ambulances.

REICH SLAPS LEAGUE ON JEWISH QUESTION

Council, However, Proceeds to Place Problem in Hands of Jurists.

Geneva, May 30 (A.P.).—Germany in diplomatic phraseology told the League of Nations Council today to keep its hands off the question of Germany's treatment of the Jews.

The council, however, without Germany's vote, proceeded to submit the judicial aspects of the problem to jurists, with the understanding that there will be a complete airing of the entire matter later.

This action followed Germany's refusal to accept a council report on the treatment of Jews in German Upper Silesia.

Friedrich von Keller, the German delegate, declared Franz Bernheim, a German Jew residing in Upper Silesia on whose recent case the report was based, is not of Silesian origin, and has no right to raise the question of the application of German laws in Silesia nor to speak for the population.

On May 20 the League decided to give "urgent treatment" to Bernheim's petition complaining that Germany's treatment of the Jews violates the German-Polish convention guaranteeing protection to the life and liberty of all inhabitants.

The council's report said the laws in question involve restrictions in various forms which would apply only to persons belonging to the Jewish population and in violation of the Polish-German convention.

Police Seek Kin Of Poison Victim

Prince Georges County police last night were attempting to locate relatives of Paul G. Lewis, 60, a former Chicago attorney, living at 307 A street southeast, who took his life with poison yesterday morning at Branchville, Md.

Papers found on his person served as identification. A rambling note which ended "* * * please do not cremate my body. It will undoubtedly be called for later," was found in a pocket.

The man took the poison as he was walking on the street. He was carried into the firehouse, where a physician pronounced him dead.

The vote was 271 to 56.

Perth Amboy, N. J., May 30 (A.P.).—A State Communist celebration of "National Youth Day" today broke up in a riot in which one man was shot and four others injured.

SENATE PASSES OPTIONAL PLAN ON RETIREMENT

House Rotative Furlough Accepted; Offices Bill Vote Is Delayed.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The Senate yesterday without debate approved optional 30-year retirement for Federal employes, accepted the House rotative furlough plan, then recessed until today without taking final action on the controversial State apportionment feature of the independent offices bill.

Approval of legislative provisions affecting Federal workers came at the end of an extended session given over to a bipartisan attack on Budget Bureau cuts in service-connected veterans' compensation.

The "apportionment clause," directing prior dismissal of employes from States having more than their quota of workers, with due regard to efficiency, was temporarily passed over when Senator Hugo L. Black (Democrat), Alabama, sought to amend the language.

Amendment on Preference.

The Black amendment would require the Civil Service Commission, in making new appointments, to give preference to States having the smallest percentage of their employe quota filled. This plan will be voted on today.

On motion of Senator James F. Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, who handled the independent offices bill on the floor, the Senate eliminated the Budget Bureau provision giving the President authority to furlough on half pay Army, Marine and Coast Guard officers.

Senator Byrnes said he had made a personal investigation of the matter before proposing his amendment. Off the floor, he said he preferred that the matter go to conference with the House, adding that it "might not be desirable to make the furloughs at this time."

The South Carolina senator said he found it would cost as much or more to put the military furlough into operation as it would to continue the officers on full time.

Another amendment offered by Senator Byrnes was approved without opposition. It would change the provision denying pay increases to employes reallocated to higher pay grades, so the law would not be retroactive.

Senate to Debate Helvering Today

(Associated Press.)

The Senate last night agreed to take up for debate this afternoon the nomination of Guy T. Helvering, of Kansas, to be Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

A few minutes later the Senate confirmed Stephen B. Gibbons, of New York, as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Arthur E. Morgan then was confirmed as the first member of the Tennessee Valley Authority, to be in charge of the Muscle Shoals-Tennessee Basin development.

R. C. P. Thomas, of Kentucky, was confirmed as district judge of the Canal Zone, and W. T. Collins, of Missouri, as United States Court Clerk for China.

Bonus Poet

And Owner of Invaluable Photos of D. C. Siege, Dies of Poisoning.

Pressed and persecuted by mysterious influences that had "hounded" him for months, Eddie Gosnell, post-photographer of the bonus army of '32, was forced by overpowering duress to drain the poison draught that early yesterday brought him to a feverish death in Gallinger Hospital, comrades of the dead bonus marcher declared last night, after a day of investigation.

Gosnell, whose body lies at the District Morgue while detectives probe his past, possessed photographs and documents which would prove embarrassing to persons in situations high and low, it was declared.

Just half an hour before he was taken in writhing agony to Casualty Hospital, he was given a telephone message by two bonus comrades, whom he told:

"Tell him I'll see him in hell."

These facts with a number of others, were revealed last night by Maj. Albert Woods, soldier of fortune and World War ace, designated by Mike Thomas, right wing bonus leader, to inquire into Gosnell's death.

Gosnell was transferred from Casualty Hospital to Gallinger when he became unmanageable.

Gosnell, possessor of the only photographic negative of the fatal shooting of William Hushka in the bonus riots last year, took poison in a drab room he had rented only a few days ago at 414 B street northeast.

Earlier Monday night he had spent some time at the home of Mrs. Margaret Winsted, 1220 D street northeast, a long-time friend of World War veterans. He repeatedly told Mrs. Winsted, said Maj. Woods, that

VETERAN CUT FIGHT IMPENDS IN SENATE

Liberalization of Allowances for Disability Will Be Sought Today.

A many-cornered Senate attack on service-connected veterans' compensation cuts, accompanied by a flood of proposed amendments for lightening reductions ordered through the Budget Bureau, yesterday presaged a stiff Senate fight to liberalize disabled veterans' allowances when the independent offices bill comes up for final action today.

While the country paid memorial tribute to the dead of all her wars, senators on both sides of the chamber refused to be stilled by intimations of impending administration action to increase pension scales, insisting on fairer treatment of those who carry with them marks of their Nation's battles.

Although Senator James F. Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, believed to be speaking for the administration, gave assurances that modified regulations will be forthcoming from the Veterans' Administration, senators continued their assault. Senator Frederick Steiwer (Republican), Oregon, led the attack.

During debate, more than a half-dozen amendments seeking to liberalize the cuts in disabled compensation

Britain Unyielding On Aerial Bombing

London, May 30 (A.P.).—Great Britain declines to yield to disarmament proposals that would force her to abandon aerial bombardment overseas as a police measure, Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, told the House of Commons today.

The British reservation on air bombing is meeting strenuous opposition at Geneva.

Britain was the first to propose the conference should agree to abolish air bombardment, but excepted air bombing for police purposes overseas. She wanted to retain the air weapon to check rebellious tribes.

WOODIN SLATED TO BE SELECTED ENVOY TO REICH

Douglas Seen Succeeding Him Due to Morgan Investigation.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Capitol Hill heard reports yesterday from apparently authoritative sources that Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin soon would accept appointment as President Roosevelt's Ambassador to Germany.

'As the Senate Banking and Currency Committee met in executive session to decide upon the future conduct of its investigation into the affairs of J. P. Morgan & Co., committee members discussed informally the prospective Cabinet shift.

From the same quarters came the report that Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, likely would be nominated as Secretary Woodin's successor.

Former Preferred Client.

Although this change is understood to have been definitely decided upon, the shift will not be made for several weeks. The President is represented as wishing to avoid any action at this time which might place Mr. Woodin in the position of relinquishing his Treasury post directly as a result of the presentation of his name as a former preferred client of J. P. Morgan & Co.

From Chairman Fletcher members of the Banking and Currency Committee heard yesterday the direct report that President Roosevelt is desirous that the Morgan inquiry shall be "pushed to the limit."

Acting upon this advice, the committee determined to resume public hearings this morning. It will begin with George Howard, president of the United Corporation, who was on the witness stand last Friday when the sessions recessed with explosion over the conduct of Ferdinand Pecora, the special committee counsel.

Fight Against Pecora.

Carrying his fight against Pecora's unprecedented methods into yesterday's session, Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, won the right to demand of the examiner an explicit statement of what he is seeking to develop from step to step in the public examination of witnesses.

Senator Glass has resisted from the outset the line of procedure which always has marked Senate headhunting expeditions in the past. In deference to this view, the decision was reached yesterday to place the conduct of the inquiry entirely in the hands of the senators.

Pecora will retain his nominal place as committee counsel, but the course of the inquiry will be steered by the members themselves, rather than by the counsel.

Under this procedure, it is expected that developments will be determined in advance of the public hearings, on

Rome, May 30 (A.P.).—Baron Alessandro Sardi, organizer of the Italian exhibition at the Chicago World's Fair and once one of Mussolini's right-hand men, was indefinitely suspended today from the Fascist party.

The embezzlement occurred when he was president of the institute.

Wage Increase Settles Textile Workers' Strike

Dover, N. H., May 30 (A.P.).—More than 1,000 striking textile workers of the local branch of the Pacific Mills Corporation of Lawrence, Mass., at a mass meeting today voted to return to work tomorrow at 12½ per cent increase in wages.

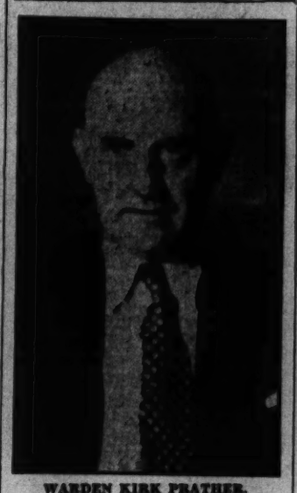
The strike was called May 12 after the workers' demand for a 25 per cent wage increase was refused. A subsequent offer of a 10 per cent increase was rejected, but today the strikers appointed a committee to submit a compromise proposal which was accepted by the mill officials.

Pacifists Cause Riot By Molesting Wreaths

New York, May 30 (A.P.).—Two hundred fists flew in a brief but furious flurry today when a group of militant pacifists tried to remove wreaths American Legionaires had placed on the statue of a doughboy in upper Broadway.

Three persons were injured in today's fighting to the extent of requiring medical treatment. A police riot squad restored order without making any arrests.

Convicts Free Warden After Prison Flight



WARDEN KIRK PRATHER.

Women Still Captives of 11 Fugitives in Jail Break.

Prather Says Whisky Kept Men From Killing Him.

Lansing, Kans., May 30 (A.P.).—Kansas State Penitentiary officials announced Warden Kirk Prather, taken as a hostage by 11 convicts who escaped during a prison baseball game today, had been released near Welch, Okla., late tonight.

Warden Prather, officials said, notified them by telephone that he and two guards also held as hostages, were released unharmed 15 miles southwest of Welch.

In a brief conversation with R. D. Payne, his secretary, Prather reported the convicts at first threatened to kill them, but reconsidered and let them go.

Wife Urges Airplane.

Mrs. Prather talked briefly with her husband on the telephone. She urged him to obtain an airplane to return him to his home at the prison, but she said he told her he already had engaged a motor car for the return trip.

Relieved from the tension that had gripped her since her husband was forced at the point of guns to accompany the escaping convicts, Mrs. Prather wept after hearing his voice on the telephone.

Reports a 35-year-old woman and two 17-year-old girls, captured by the escaping convicts after they fled from the prison, had been released near Lansing, were unverified.

Officers said they had no knowledge of the women's release and all efforts to trace the motor car containing another group of the escaped convicts, who forced the women to accompany them, had been unavailing, officers at the prison said.

Whisky Saved Him.

In his conversation with those at the prison, Warden Prather said the convicts who held him captive obtained a bottle of whisky and "warmed up." He said he believed that otherwise he would never have been released alive.

The convicts, the warden said, became garrulous and told him how they had planned the break and obtained their firearms.

The warden said the six men with him were the plotters, the other convicts merely being invited participants in the escape, who, as far as they knew, were not aware of their destination.

He said he did not know the whereabouts of the other convicts.

Forced Out of Car.

The three women hostages, Mrs. Alberta Wood, 38, and her daughter, Louise, 17, of Kansas City, Kans., and Miss Claijce Wears, 17, of Higgins, Tex., were on their way to decorate a soldier's grave at Leavenworth when the car in which they were riding was commandeered. M. J. Wood, railroad employe, was forced out of the car and saw the convicts, some of them life termers, speed away with his wife, daughter and Miss Wears.

CIGAR CLERK BEATEN IN HOLDUP ON AVENUE

Lies Unconscious 20 Minutes After Attack; Till Emptied by Lone Robber.

His head battered and arm fractured, Arthur B. Snyder, 44-year-old night manager of the A. Schulte Cigar Store at Ninth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, last night staggered from his establishment into the arms of a policeman and told of a brutal assault and robbery—his third bandit encounter in less than a year.

Semiconscious in Emergency Hospital, he told police how a late "customer" entered and went directly to a telephone booth just as he was preparing to lock up for the day.

As he walked across the store to close the doors, Snyder related, the man stepped from the booth quickly drew a gun and ordered him to "put out the lights."

A moment's hesitation cost Snyder severe injuries. As he stopped in his tracks and turned toward the man, the latter suddenly whipped from his pocket a black object, resembling a blackjack. This he brought down sharply across Snyder's left arm.

The store manager grabbed the injured arm and at the same time his assailant reached for a light switch and plunged the store in darkness.

Covering Snyder with his gun, the man went behind the counter, rifled the cash register and jammed the contents in his pocket.

He again approached Snyder and without warning struck him across the head with the blackjack. The manager dropped to the floor unconscious. The bandit took the store keys from his pocket and calmly walked to the street.

For more than 20 minutes Snyder lay prostrate on the floor. He finally staggered from the store and into the arms of Policeman H. H. Shope.

Bandits Kill Man Resisting Holdup

New York, May 30 (A.P.).—Charles Mehling, 25, was shot and killed tonight when he resisted two men who tried to rob him while he was in an automobile parked in a secluded section of Manhattan Beach with a niece of the late Representative Matthew V. O'Malley, of Brooklyn.

Mehling's companion, Miss Marion O'Malley, 23, was tossed out of the automobile in which they had been sitting and the holdup men drove the car away. Suffering from shock and cuts about the face, she was questioned by Coney Island police and sent to her home.

She said she and Mehling, a timekeeper for the Sperry Gyroscope Co., had driven from Coney Island to Manhattan Beach and were parked only a few minutes when two men appeared.

WALES LAUDS END OF U. S. ISOLATION

Distinguished Memorial Day Audience Gives Ovation to Bingham.

London, May 30 (A.P.).—The Prince of Wales told a distinguished Anglo-American gathering of the Pilgrims Society tonight that the United States and Great Britain are now realizing "no country can prosper in isolation."

The heir to the British throne introduced Robert W. Bingham, new United States Ambassador to Great Britain, to the audience of about 250 persons. The prince paid tribute to the "strong lead" the new United States Government has taken to end the depression.

Making his first formal address to London as American envoy, Mr. Bingham declared a "phenomenal recovery" has taken place in the United States since the Roosevelt inauguration. This "indefinitely enlarges the influence which the United States has to offer in behalf of world peace and world recovery," the Ambassador said.

Renewed Confidence and Hope.

The Prince of Wales said recent world conditions had caused "untold suffering but citizens of the United States have renewed confidence and hope."

He plunged into the realms of economics and world affairs in his address, declaring "in the great catastrophe which has overtaken the world, America is realizing with Great Britain that under the present economic system no country can prosper in isolation."

He talked of the growing independence of nations and said "if the depression can teach us the vice of economic nationalism, then the great depression itself may prove the opening of a way to the ideal day when there will be no poverty."

Unusually Warm Welcome.

The prince stressed the importance of the disarmament conference and the coming world economic conference, saying the degree of their success may well depend upon the cooperation of the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Bingham was given an unusually warm welcome when he rose to speak. The guests, including the Archbishop of Canterbury and many leaders of official, civic and military life in London, stood and applauded before drinking Mr. Bingham's health with the Prince of Wales.

Quoting a passage from Mr. Roosevelt's inaugural speech—"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself"—Mr. Bingham said "from the moment that inaugural address went out to the whole listening Nation, the somber clouds of despair began to lift, paralysis of fear was replaced with hope and courage, and with uplifted minds and hearts the whole people accepted a leadership, bold, wise, statesmanlike and inspiring."

Observance at the Cenotaph.

"What has happened since then is really incredible," he continued. "But what perhaps is of more importance to you is the phenomenal recovery which has been made which indefinitely enlarges the influence which the United States has to offer in behalf of world peace and world recovery and, also vitally important, the changed attitude on several subjects of the people of the United States through their misfortunes in recent years.

"This change must be understood by any one who seeks to measure the future course of the American Government and the American people," he said.

The ambassador's address was the climax to a series of Memorial Day events in which Americans participated. The London Post of the American Legion led in an observance at the Cenotaph, the war memorial on the Thames embankment; Ray Atherton, embassy counselor, placed a wreath on the grave of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey and Americans attended memorial services in nearby St. Margaret's Church.

Thousands in Rain Honor Memory of Akron Victims

Services Also Pay Tribute to J-3 Dead Near Spot Where Rescue Blimp Fell; Floral Offerings Dropped Over Watery Graves.

Beach Haven, N. J., May 30 (A.P.).—Several thousand persons stood in the rain today at memorial services to the men of the Akron and the J-3 who lost their lives in the crash of these airships on April 4.

More than a score of widows of the disaster and their children were gathered on the pavilion along the ocean front where the services were held. The spot is but a short distance from the scene where the J-3, small Navy blimp, crashed during its search for the lost Akron.

The rain and fog caused cancellation of a plan to load flowers on Naval airplanes and fly 20 miles to sea off Barnegat light, where the giant Navy dirigible was destroyed, and there scatter the flowers on the water.

Instead the flowers were loaded aboard two Coast Guard ships which were convoyed by two other Coast Guard vessels and carried to the Akron's grave.

In the shore exercises a firing squad of ten men from the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst fired three volleys and a bugler sounded taps. As the last bugle call was sounded, men stationed at every flag pole in the town raised the flags, which had been at half mast, to the top.

At midafternoon when the rain stopped, a Navy bomber piloted by Lieut. Thomas Harrigan, flew here, dipped low over the town and, in passing over the J-3's accident scene, dropped floral wreaths. The plane then returned to the air station.

The Rev. W. A. McGuire, chaplain of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, was in charge of the services. Ministers of three denominations participated.

VETERANS DECORATE GRAVES IN SURESNES

France Joins in Ceremonies Honoring America's Soldier Dead.

Paris, May 30 (A.P.).—The French graves of 26,500 Americans who died in the World War were decorated today with ceremonies commemorative of their sacrifice.

In five military cemeteries, delegations of veterans conducted the ceremonies at 11 o'clock, followed exactly at noon by the raising of the Stars and Stripes as a symbol of a living Nation.

At Suresnes, near Paris, where 1,541 soldiers lie under rows of white crosses, Theodore Marriner, American charge d'affaires, presided over the major memorial service this afternoon.

A group of Gold Star Mothers and widows, here as pilgrims to the graves of their sons and husbands, visited the cemeteries where their dead rest.

The American colony's observance of the day opened with church services at the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity and at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

After the church services, patriotic organizations with their colors formed a column, marched to the tomb of the unknown soldier, under the Arcade Triomphe, and there placed wreaths.

French and American governmental and military officials, representatives of American and allies patriotic organizations, and French school children attended the Suresnes ceremony.

Military honors were performed by a detachment of French infantry with their band, mounted troops with trumpets, and a detachment of French Marines, as well as by the color guard and firing squad of the American Legion Post and the colors of other groups of veterans.

Mrs. Owen Decorates Graves in Copenhagen

Copenhagen, Denmark, May 30 (A.P.).—Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, United States Minister to Denmark, today placed wreaths on graves of American soldiers buried in two Copenhagen cemeteries.

She was accompanied in the Memorial Day ceremony by the staffs of the American Legation and consulate. American World War veterans formed guards of honor at the graves, which were covered with flowers from Danish friends of America.

WOODIN SEEN LIKELY ENVOY TO GERMANY

the basis of the material gathered by Pecora in his search of Morgan files during March, April and early May.

The decision was reached principally because of last Friday's experience, in which some two hours of the public session were devoted to an exploration of affairs of the United Corporation, all of which had been set forth in detail months ago in a report of the Federal Trade Commission.

The committee members are anxious, if possible, to avoid this waste of time and money in the future.

Another executive session this morning, before the public hearing, will define precisely what part Pecora is to play henceforward in the examination of witnesses.

Lewis Douglas Debated As Woodin Successor

(Associated Press.)

Revelations arising from the J. P. Morgan investigation yesterday precipitated a discussion in the Senate of the merits of Lewis W. Douglas as Secretary of the Treasury to succeed William H. Woodin.

Senator Long (Democrat), Louisiana, contended the Douglas family was "inextricably interwoven" with the Phelps-Dodge Corporation, which he described as a Morgan affiliate, and added:

"If we are going back to the house of Morgan for another Secretary of the Treasury, we'd better keep the man we've got now. In fact, I prefer the man we've got now."

Senator Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona, rose quickly to the defense of Douglas and his family, asserting his record showed he was courageous, honest and unsusceptible to influence.

"It would be astonishing news to me," Ashurst added, "if Mr. Douglas had any connection with a Morgan company. But even if he were financially interested, Mr. Morgan would be impotent and powerless to influence that young man."

Before the debate ended, Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, remarked that only "the great Democratic standard bearer, James M. Cox, of Ohio," had declined to accept stock offered at bargain prices to a list of nationally prominent men, including Woodin, by the Morgan house.

"It seems to me," said Norris, "that if the disclosures of this investigation put the man out of office who accepted, the President might well put the man in who refused to accept."

Declaring the country could have "no better man than Lewis Douglas" as chief of Federal finances, Ashurst told Norris "Cox would be my Attorney General if I were President."

GIRL, 12, WINS $500 AND SPELLING TITLE

Alma Roach, Akron Paper's Entry, Hurdles "Torsion" for National Crown.

(Associated Press.)

Twelve-year-old Alma Roach, representing the Akron (Ohio) Beacon-Journal, yesterday won the $500 first prize in the National Spelling Bee organized by The Louisville Courier-Journal to which local champions were sent by newspapers throughout the country.

Second place and $300 went to George Meltzer, 14 of the Jersey Observer, Hoboken, N. J., Virginia Wood, just a year younger than George and representing the Buffalo Evening News, took the $100 third prize.

Virginia went down on "holocaust." George knew that one but missed on "propitiatory." Alma corrected his spelling and then spelled the next word on the list—"torsion"—for first place.

The contest was for students of the eighth grade or under and most of the spellers were from 10 to 14 years.

As first-place winner, Alma Roach gains the title held since last year by Dorothy Greenwald, of Muscatine, Iowa.

The eight winners of $75 prizes were:

Betty Burns, of the Des Moines Register-Tribune; Samuel Hayse, of the Louisville Courier-Journal; Ruth Tenenbaum, of the Detroit News; Sarah Wilson, of the Portland, Mo., Evening Express; Florence Sullivan, of the Hartford Times; Alice Worthington, of the Wilkesbarre Record; Rita Palin, of the Peoria Journal Transcript, and Barbara Brown, of the Memphis Press Scimitar.

Nurse Foils

Attempt to Kidnap Child by Slamming Door on Abductor.

Rome, Ga., May 30 (A.P.).—A Negro nurse who slammed a door in the face of a man who demanded the child frustrated an apparent attempt to kidnap Jane, the year-and-a-half-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fahy, from the Fahy home here last night.

After closing the door the nurse took the child in her arms, carried her through the rear of the house, climbed a wall and made her way to a neighbor's house.

LABOR TO DEMAND U. S. AID AT PARLEY

Green Calls Meeting Here for Tuesday on Share in Industrial Bill.

(Associated Press.)

Leaders of organized labor yesterday were summoned to a special meeting here next Tuesday to frame demands that labor receive its full share of benefits from the vast public works-industrial control bill.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in calling the meeting of Federation officials, said that "labor is determined that industry, corporations and the owners of industry shall not be the exclusive beneficiaries of organization, price stabilization and the elimination of unfair trade practices, as provided for in the act."

He will recommend, he said, the launching of a campaign to organize workers so that they "may demand that employers negotiate with their chosen representatives in the establishment of decent wages, shorter hours and improved conditions of employment."

1,000 Are Expected.

Executive officers of all national and international unions affiliated with the federation have been asked to attend the special labor meeting which will follow an emergency session of the National Association of Manufacturers summoned for Saturday.

Robert L. Lund, president of the manufacturers, sent out the call for the meeting of that organization. Lund has approved the principle of the industrial control measure, but opposition has been registered to some of the enforcement provisions. One specific objection is that provision for licensing industries which refuse to cooperate voluntarily for business stabilization. Lund expects 1,000 manufacturers to attend.

The big bill already has passed the House and will be pressed for swift action in the Senate. Today the Senate Finance Committee will resume hearings.

Rapid Organization Planned.

Green, who has given his indorsement to the measure, said that "labor must share equitably and fully in the benefits which flow from the right to organize, to engage in collective bargaining and to be represented by representatives of their own choosing, as provided for in the bill."

At the meeting next week, Green said, it will be suggested that the campaign to organize workers "be started quickly, that the message of organization be carried to the unorganized workers of the Nation and through such a campaign they will be advised of their rights under the provisions of this act and the necessity for united action in order to secure for themselves the economic and social benefits, as well as the enjoyment of all the rights to which they are entitled under the provisions of the industrial recovery act."

Green said machinery of organization would be set up in every State, city and town. The campaign is to be carried on by the various labor organizations.

At Welsh's home, it was said that Miss Sewzuk had been a frequent visitor there and that he had presented her to his parents as his future wife.

Maryland Voted $5,798 Relief From U. S. Fund

Maryland has been allotted $5,798 for State relief work from funds of the Emergency Relief Administration, it was announced yesterday by Harry L. Hopkins, director of the administration. The funds are provided out of the $500,000,000 recently provided by Congress for direct relief.

Maryland received less than any of the other 31 States, which have been allotted funds. New York received the most, more than $6,000,000 out of total allotments of $21,000,000. New Mexico was next above Maryland in the amount received, having been allotted $31,000. Virginia's share of the fund has not yet been announced.

CRISIS IN GERMANY LA GUARDIA'S TOPIC

Former Representative Will Speak Before Conference on Racial Persecution.

The present emergency in Germany and its relation to the security of world peace will be the keynote of addresses before the opening session of the American National Conference against Racial Persecution in Germany next Monday in the Mayflower Hotel.

Former Representative Fiorello La Guardia, of New York, will be the principal speaker at the opening meeting. Frank J. Hogan, Washington attorney, will preside, at a dinner following the session.

Cooperation in the conference objective has been assured by various State governors and officials, it was announced by the committee in charge. Labor leaders, members of Congress and prominent clergymen have offered their support, the committee reported.

The planned program will be launched to arouse the country to a consciousness of the extent of persecution now rampant in Germany, spokesmen of the conference pointed out.

Washingtonians sponsoring the meeting include Wendell P. Stafford, former justice of the District Supreme Court; Dr. William L. Darby, executive secretary of the Washington Federation of Churches; the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington; the Rev. Joseph R. Bodies of 2 Found; Suicide Pact Clew

St. John, N. B., May 30 (U.P.).—The bodies of Bert L. Corey, 54, of Holliston, Mass., and his cousin, Miss Hazel Sleep, 19, of Coles Island, N. B., were found in woods near here today in circumstances indicating a suicide pact.

Police said the position of the bodies and notes on the bodies indicated the girl had fired two shots from a revolver which was found clutched in her right hand—one to end the life of Corey and the other to commit suicide. Corey apparently allowed her to shoot him.

The couple disappeared from a hotel here May 11. Police said they apparently died May 11 or 12.

NOTED BONUS LEADER SUCCUMBS TO POISON

he feared for his life and said he had been attacked twice that day.

Woods planned to intensify his inquiry today and promised something more tangible by nightfall. Meanwhile police are attempting to locate relatives of Gosnell, whose kin are believed to live in southern Illinois. Telegrams sent out had not been answered late last night.

Gosnell was the possessor of the most complete extant collection of photographs of the occupation of the Capitol last year by the bonus army. He was opposed to more bonus marches and had traveled extensively over the Nation making lectures to this effect and exhibiting stereoptican slides of last year's bonus encampment. He had been backed up by the chambers of commerce of several cities in his campaign.

Police last night also were confronted with the presence in Gosnell's clothes of papers relating to the honorable discharge of Edward Steinhaur, of East St. Louis. Whether Gosnell was Steinhaur, living under an assumed named, had not been established. His status as a World War veteran has never been questioned, though he received wide publicity last year as the "poet of the B. E. F."

PERSHING HITS U. S. LEAD IN DISARMING

Says Patriotic Fervor Is No Substitute for Training When Danger Comes.

(Associated Press.)

Gen. John J. Pershing said in a Memorial Day speech yesterday that there was plenty of evidence to refute the "childlike faith" that if America should take the lead in disarmament other nations would follow.

"The casual observer sees, that notwithstanding treaties to promote peace, wars continue to be waged in various parts of the globe," said the wartime leader of the American armies. "He sees that the treaties clash with national ambitions. Aggressor nations do not hesitate to disregard their treaty obligations.

"It is, therefore, a question of moral standards among people. Under these conditions can there be any immediate hope that nations are ready to beat their swords into plowshares?

Such Futile Experiments.

"The world is definitely in that state of mind when something more than plausible assurances are necessary to convince us that certain peoples have forshaken their lawless tendencies.

"Yet, some of our people are led to believe that if America would take the lead in disarmament other nations would follow. Let us no longer deceive ourselves by such futile experiments. There is plenty of evidence with which to refute such childlike faith.

"The advocacy of such a course tends to create 'slackers'—by which I mean men who are willing to accept the protection of the Government but unwilling to fight for its preservation.

"The absurdity of the theory that our example would lead other nations to disarm was fully proved before the war. The fact is that this country was known to be practically disarmed, but no other nation followed our example."

Urges Thorough Training.

Gen. Pershing's statement came at a time when President Roosevelt and other leading world statesmen are seeking to achieve a large measure of arms reduction at the conference in Geneva. The United States has taken the lead in this movement, through Mr Roosevelt's peace message to the rulers of other nations and the enlargement upon that doctrine enunciated at Geneva by Norman H. Davis, America's Ambassador-at-Large.

"Regarding the general subject of disarmament now under international discussion," Gen. Pershing said, "it is clear that until there is something definite upon which to base some degree of hope for such a happy consummation, America can not afford to relax her vigilance.

"In the World War we were not compelled to engage our fully prepared adversary single-handed, but we are not likely to be so fortunate another time.

"This suggests the conclusion that our success should not lead us to the false notion that patriotic fervor alone will prove a substitute for thorough military training."

National Guard Is Raw.

Asserting that this country's entry into the World War found the United States not ready to assume the obligations which such a course entailed, Gen. Pershing said that after the World War the national defense act was enacted.

"This act provided for a regular Army, National Guard and Reserve—the regular Army to consist of only 14,000 officers and 165,000 men as the minimum consistent with reasonable safety," he said.

"This is relatively a very small force as compared with other nations. The National Guard of today would require a great deal of training before it could take the field.

"Disregarding the possibility of war, the Army is a national asset and a national necessity. The expense of its maintenance, always a matter of concern to the Army itself, is almost negligible when we consider it as the basis of our national defense system and our safeguard against internal disturbance."

Police Spread Net For Bank Bandits

Rensselaer, N. Y., May 30 (A.P.).—Police of a dozen Eastern States cruised the highways today for a trace of the blue sedan in which a gang of outlaws escaped after a spectacular and sanguinary raid on the Rensselaer County Bank. The loot was $2,000.

Behind a screen of pistol and machine gun bullets, the six, supposedly led by Charles Arthur ("Pretty Boy") Floyd, notorious Oklahoma bandit, fled yesterday when they were surprised during a holdup of the bank. An aged city detective was killed and a second wounded.

Today police of Albany and the neighboring cities of Troy and Rensselaer, and State troopers were without clews to the robbers, except that two witnesses said the gang leader looked like Floyd.

TRUCE DELEGATION GATHERING IN CHINA

Chinese Negotiators, Heavily Guarded, Enter War Zone; Japanese Arrive.

Tientsin, China, May 30 (A.P.).—Heavily guarded Chinese delegates bound for armistice negotiations with the Japanese at Tangku, passed through Tientsin today by train.

The personnel of the Chinese delegation was not made public, but it was believed that the leader was Gen. Hwang Fu, representative of the Nanking government, against whose life two attempts were made by bombers two weeks ago.

The greatest precautions were taken for the safety of the delegates while the train stopped in Tientsin. Traffic through the city was halted and a strong guard was on duty at the railroad station.

The negotiators came from Peiping. From here to their destination there was an unbroken line of military patrols along the railway. These guards had orders to allow no one to trespass on the right of way.

Japanese delegates, understood to number six and to be headed by Lieut. Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, chief of staff of the Japanese army assigned to the Manchurian and north China campaign, already have arrived at Tangku by warship.

Expectations were that the formal armistice negotiations would be of short duration.

SENATE APPROVES OPTIONAL RETIRING

or affect those who already have received wage boosts.

This change has been sought by organized employe groups.

Limit on Flight Pay.

Other provisions affecting Government personnel approved by the Senate yesterday limit military flight pay, so that flight and regular compensation together might not exceed the pay of an Army lieutenant colonel; revoke the customary one year's sea pay for Naval Academy graduates not commissioned; and extend the 15 per cent Federal pay cut to retired Constitutional judges and employes' compensation.

None of the Federal personnel provisions provoked more than a remark in passing, although Senator Homer T. Bone (Democrat), Washington, charged that veterans and wage workers of the United States Government are bearing the brunt of the administration's economy program.

Senator Bone served notice that he will offer an amendment today to impound into the Treasury $45,000,000 of the $50,000,000 already appropriated for so-called shipping subsidies.

Economy Proposal Delayed.

Another economy proposal passed over until today was the House provision giving the President authority to cancel ocean and air mail contracts, stricken from the bill by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Senator Kenneth McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, ancient enemy of Government transportation contracts, said he would have something to say about the amendment.

The optional 30-year retirement provision approved yesterday by the Senate, and any changes made in the House State apportionment language, must go to conference with the House when the bill is passed today or tomorrow. The House provided for 30-year retirement only where employes were "involuntarily" separated from the service, and made State apportionment the dominant factor in Federal dismissals.

IT'S THE TOBACCO THAT COUNTS!

FOUR LONG TRAINS BRING CIRCUS HERE

Greatest Show on Earth Will Display Its Wonders Today and Tomorrow.

Carrying on its four long railway trains of 100 double-length steel cars 1,200 people, among them the sensational giraffe-neck women from Burma, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus was due to arrive on the sidings of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at Bokington place at T street, at 6 a. m. today. Immediately, the spangleland folks, 50 elephants, 1,000 menagerie animals and 700 horses, will make for the grounds at Fifth street and Florida avenue northeast (Union Market), where performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m., daily today and tomorrow.

The Greatest Show on Earth comes from Baltimore, where it exhibited the past two days. It is celebrating the golden jubilee of the Ringling Brothers, and Washington will see a gala program, inaugurated by the Durbar, an opulent reproduction of the renowned coronation ceremonial at Delhi, India, with nearly 2,000 people and animals participating, among them 50 elephants, gorgeously draped with gem-studded robes and bearing ornate howdahs on their backs.

Modoc, the golden elephant, with Mirmah, the golden girl, posed on his head, and Princess Anna, the horse that beats a drum to the music of a British military band, are two of the hundreds of unusual units in this dazzling pageantry. It is by far the most impressive and lavish spectacle ever produced by the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey combined circus.

Women With Giraffe Necks.

The weird giraffe-neck women from Burma, with 50 to 60 pounds of brass rings around their elongated necks, their arms and ankles, will be seen in the great menagerie tent and in the main performances. Since 1926 the Big Show has been negotiating with the British government to bring these last of the earth's unknown people from their jungle homes in Upper Burma. It remained for Samuel W. Gumperts, the general manager of the circus, to accomplish the task this spring.

The giraffe-necks have never before been exhibited anywhere in the world. Their great timidity had heretofore defeated all attempts to exploit them. Mr. Gumperts's agents won them with gifts of salt, jewelry and with pictures of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. In fact, these strange, but gentle, Malaysians came all the way from Burma to see the Greatest Show on Earth. And they are as happy as little children over it all. The clowns are their heroes.

Acrobats From Asia.

Among the new features are the Uyenos Japanese and the Yom Kom Chinese, novelty acrobatic troupes; the Marcellus flying ballet plastique; Ed and Jenny Rooney, royal pair of the air and the new star, Antoinette Concello, only girl to accomplish a two-and-a-half somersault to a catch in midair.

Con Colleano, somersaulting marvel of the tight wire; Alfredo Codona, only triple midair somersaulter to a catch; the Wallendas and Gretonas, dome-high tight-wire thrillers; Luicita Leera, aerial gymnastic headliner; Dorothy Herbert, reckless rider of reinless jumping and rearing horses; Hugo Zacchini, human projectile; the Yacopis, Danwills and Rubios, famed acrobatic somersaulters; Maximo Chaplin of the slack wire; the Riefenachs, the Walters and the Davenports, bareback riding stars; the Codonas, the Harolds and the Concellos, peerless flying-return troupes; Al Powell, flying bowknot, and the new Congress of Rough Riders of the World are among the outstanding 1933 Golden Jubilee tour features. There are, of course, 100 clowns, the best known and the best of the funmakers of all nations.

PATRIARCH OF ELEPHANT HERD

Modoc, patriarch of the herd of 50 elephants with Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, greets his fans and accepts their peanut offerings on arrival for his appearance here today and tomorrow.

JUDGE DECIDES 3.2 BEER ACT ILLEGAL

Georgian's Opinion Declares Congressional Measure Unconstitutional.

Marietta, Ga., May 30 (A.P.).—Judge J. H. Hawkins of the Blue Ridge Circuit Superior Court today held that the act of Congress legalizing 3.2 beer was unconstitutional, and also ruled that dry States may prevent transportation of the beverage over their highways regardless of the interstate commerce act.

The decision was handed down in a series of cases growing out of the seizure by county officers of a truck owned by the Bullock Transfer & Storage Co. of Atlanta, and its load of 220 cases of beer, and the arrest of the driver and two Negro helpers.

The men were allowed freedom on bond of $200 each pending an appeal.

Judge Hawkins said he would like to see the United States Supreme Court pass on the decision as soon as possible and settle the tangle which has arisen in Georgia over beer.

The jurist held the beer act unconstitutional on the ground that "the courts of this State may take judicial cognizance, as a matter of common knowledge, that any beer or other liquor of similar potableness which contains such an amount of alcohol is intoxicating."

On the interstate commerce phase of the question, Judge Hawkins held that the State highways are public property and that as such their use is subject to "the legislative power of reasonable regulation."

"Their use for purposes of gain," his decision said, "is special and extraordinary, and this the Legislature may, generally, either prohibit or condition as it sees fit."

WOMAN SUES LONG IN LIBEL OF $250,000

Wife of Former Governor of Louisiana Charges Defamation.

Baton Rouge, La., May 30 (A.P.).—Senator Huey P. Long today was sued for $250,000 damages by Mrs. Anne Ector Pleasant, wife of former Gov. Ruffin G. Pleasant, who alleged that Senator Long had defamed her character and had had her ejected from the State House during the 1932 session of the Legislature.

The suit was entered in East Baton Rouge District Court.

Describing herself as a "law-abiding citizen" who "deported herself as a woman of respectability, character and honor," Mrs. Pleasant charged in her suit that Senator Long called her a "drunken, cursing woman," in the office of Miss Alice Lee Grosjean, State supervisor of public accounts, and that at his orders she was arrested and put out of the State House.

The suit said the damages were asked because of the "consequent hurt" to Mrs. Pleasant's feelings, and her "humiliation and mortification."

Mrs. Pleasant filed the petition as a resident of Shreveport, La., and Caddo Parish.

Both former Gov. and Mrs. Pleasant, fellow townsmen of Senator Long, have been for many years among his leading political opponents in this State. During recent legislative sessions, frequent public verbal clashes occurred between the wife of the former governor and the senator.

Former Gov. Pleasant's name headed the list of prominent attorneys filing the suit in her behalf.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Long (Democrat), Louisiana, yesterday denied Mrs. Anne Ector Pleasant, wife of a former Louisiana Governor, had been ejected from the State Capitol by him, grounds she gave in filing suit in Louisiana for $250,000 damages.

Miss Richey's Airplane Down Near Allentown

Pittsburgh, May 30 (A.P.).—Members of the family of Miss Helen Richey, McKeesport aviatrix, who had been reported missing on her way to New York, said today she was forced down at Allentown, Pa., last evening.

Mrs. J. B. Richey, the flier's mother, reported she received a telegram from her daughter stating she was staying with a friend, Miss Madeline Schroeder in Bethlehem, Pa.

Morrison Active In Texas Finance

San Antonio, Tex., May 30 (A.P.).—Ralph W. Morrison, San Antonio, whose appointment as a member of the American delegation to the World Economic Conference was announced today, has been one of the dominating figures in Southwestern finance several years.

He first came to Texas in 1914, and with associates purchased and consolidated electric power companies in several cities. When the Texas Central Power Co. was organized to furnish power to all southwest Texas he became its head.

In addition to his power holdings Morrison owns extensive ranch property in Texas and Mexico, where he raises cattle and thoroughbred horses. He also is largely interested in the power company of Guadalajara, Mexico.

Morrison figured here in a sensational kidnaping case in the summer of 1930 when the arrests of three men divulged he had been kidnaped here near his office and had paid $75,000 ransom. The alleged kidnapers, later were captured and are serving terms in the penitentiary.

Cowboys Chase Robbers Fleeing in Automobile

Merced, Calif., May 30 (A.P.).—Cowboys, on horseback, sought to overtake three theater robbers fleeing by motorcar, but failed.

The riders, performing at a rodeo, entered the chase when the robbers' car came by the arena with another car in pursuit. Without six shooters, they attempted to lasso the robbers. The trio's loot was $250.

Ford Buys Edison Home.

St. Thomas, Ont., May 30 (A.P.).—The old Edison homestead, at Vienna, Ont., where Thomas Alva Edison spent the summers of his early youth, has been bought by Henry Ford, according to information received here. It is reported the building will be removed from its present site and reerected in the Ford historical settlement, at Dearborn, Mich.

VIRGINIA AGAIN CUTS ALL STATE SALARIES

Governor Orders Additional 5 Per Cent Reduction Beginning July 1.

Richmond, Va., May 30 (A.P.).—Gov. Pollard today notified all State department heads that the salaries of State employes will be reduced by an additional 5 per cent beginning July 1.

In announcing the cut the governor said that his fiscal offices have reported an anticipated decline of 30 per cent in general fund revenues. This decline, he added, is greater than had been anticipated. Each department appropriation for the first quarter of the fiscal year will be reduced 30 per cent in order that the State may live within its income, the governor said.

Reductions heretofore made in State salaries have involved a minimum cut of 15 per cent in all salaries in excess of $1,350 and of 10 per cent in the case of smaller salaries.

"The reduction which I have ordered in appropriations for the next fiscal year," the governor explained in his letter to the department heads, "will involve additional salary cuts, but we must be prepared in this time of emergency to face these sacrifices in the same spirit with which similar readjustments have been made in private business.

"The curtailment of necessary activities in order to protect salaries would represent no real economy and must be avoided."

The governor pointed out that department heads, in planning expenditures for the next fiscal year, should determine the money needed "to continue necessary activities and to repair and maintain buildings and equipment."

Whatever remains after such expenditures have been considered will be paid in salaries and will indicate the extent to which salaries must be reduced.

The governor, however, ruled that: "In order to maintain a certain degree of uniformity in these reductions it is requested that the minimum cuts now in effect on basic salaries be increased by all State agencies on July 1 to 20 per cent on all salaries in excess of $1,350 and to an average of 15 per cent on smaller salaries.

"Such further reductions must be made as are necessary in any case to confine expenditures to reduced appropriations."

World Is Revealed As Spending Less

(Associated Press.)

Sharply reduced spending by the entire world was reflected yesterday in the annual Commerce Department study of the balance of international payments, showing the United States with a net favorable balance for the year of $114,000,000.

The study showed that shrinkage of world purchasing power resulted in curtailment of purchases of American products and that the marked contraction in income of the American people was clearly reflected in sharp reduction in outlays by tourists abroad and remittances by foreign born residents to relatives in their home country.

Merchandise imports of $1,323,000,000 were 37 per cent under those of 1931 and 70 per cent under 1929 and imports of $1,612,000,000 were estimated to have dropped 33 per cent from 1931 and 54 per cent from 1929.

False Alarm

Pumper at White House But Only to Clean Out New Pool.

The presence of a fire engine beside the White House yesterday afternoon did not mean that there was any real or threatened blaze in the vicinity of the Executive Mansion.

The apparatus was called to pump out the new swimming pool in the basement of the east wing. The pool had been filled for the first time and the inside scrubbed out. Engineers did not want to turn the dirty water in the White House sewage system, which will drain the pool in the future. Instead, the District Fire Department sent up one of its older pumpers, which discharged the water into the street in half an hour.

BOOM FOR EXPORTS TO RUSSIA NEARING

Reds Prepare to Buy Vast Stores of U. S. Cotton and Live Stock.

New York, May 30 (A.P.).—Trade discussions between the United States and Russia, looking toward an enlargement of the export market for American agricultural products, will take concrete form within a few days, it was reliably indicated today.

They will center largely on cotton and live stock—two of the Soviet Union's prime needs.

In these trade negotiations, which probably will be extended later to encompass a revival of machinery exports, the Amtorg Trading Corporation, Soviet agency, will deal directly with representatives of the Government in Washington.

Neither nation is working toward a trade agreement, it was understood, but instead both contemplate bartering as far as possible. In return, Russia can ship manganese, chrome ore, furs, foodstuffs, pulp wood (spruce) and asbestos, among other products.

The peak of Russian imports from the United States was reached in 1930, the first year after the market crash. They shot up from $85,000,000 in 1929 to $114,000,000.

In 1931, exports to Russia fell off slightly to $104,000,000 and in 1932 tumbled to $13,000,000. In all of these years, approximately 85 to 90 per cent of our exports to the Soviet Union were in machinery.

In the view of Amtorg, two things brought about this drastic decline: First, lack of favorable credit in the United States and the finding of credit in European markets; and second, opposition by some American groups to Russian trade.

The Soviets feel now they can look for favorable credit action, if any is needed, inasmuch as the forthcoming negotiations will be under official sanction of the administration.

Cuban Secretary Honors Guggenheim With Cross

Havana, May 30 (A.P.).—A decree signed by Secretary of State Orestes Ferrara before his departure for London yesterday confers the Cross of the Order of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes on Harry F. Guggenheim, former United States ambassador to Cuba.

Similarly honored was Frederick Snare, an American long a resident of Cuba, who is president of the Havana Country Club.

U. S. MONEY POLICY DECLARED IMMORAL

Merchant Marine Program Is Defended at World Chamber Session.

Vienna, May 30 (A.P.).—The seventh congress of the International Chamber of Commerce was enlivened today by a denunciation of what was called the "immoral" monetary behavior of the United States and by a fiery defense of the American Merchant Marine policy.

In the finance and industry section, Charles Boissevain, of Holland, was applauded when he declared that the International Chamber of Commerce should defend not only sound business spirit but should also watch over "real business morality." He condemned the behavior of those nations which abandon the gold standard "although unquestionably in a position to maintain it."

He condemned also what he described as the "repudiation" of the gold clause in contracts by the United States.

In the transportation section, Ira Campbell, of New York, defended United States shipping against what he termed an international attempt to rule it off the seas. American Merchant Marine can not exist without subsidy, he said, and an international agreement to abolish subsidies would mean the abolition of American ships. He denied that the United States is swamping the world with surplus tonnage.

W. L. Runciman, of Great Britain, objected to his argument that the American Marine is needed for national defense, asserting such argument is out of place in a commercial congress.

Earlier today the congress was told settlement of the war debts must be accomplished before it will be possible to improve world economic conditions.

This was set forth in a report by W. H. Coates, British delegate, on "The influence on international indebtedness."

Daniels Denounces War of Aggression

Mexico City, May 30 (A.P.).—Ambassador Josephus Daniels, making a memorial address today over the graves of 700 American soldiers killed on Mexican soil in the War of 1847, denounced wars of aggression and assailed "greed for dominions."

Speaking in the old American Cemetery, the United States envoy said:

"It may be well for the reputation of some States that voices of the brave departed are forever stilled or that human ears are dead.

"For if they could, some from their valhalla would cry out, 'You sent us into a war of aggression when wise concessions could have averted the strife and spared us our lives and ambitions.

"'You stirred our patriotism when we enlisted and for the boon to mankind we gladly laid down our lives, and now the goal for which we surrendered all has been lost in your greed for dominions and for national glory.'"

$30,000 Kidnaping Search Is Spurred

Kansas City, May 30 (A.P.).—Police and Government operatives today turned to Miss Mary McElroy for additional information upon which to base their search for the men who collected $30,000 for her safe return Sunday.

The daughter of City Manager H. F. McElroy also looked at several pictures from the "rogue's gallery" without identifying any as her abductors.

Chief of Detectives T. J. Higgins and Federal agents sought more details of the house in which she was held captive. Miss McElroy and her brother, Henry F. jr., were questioned behind closed doors. The search for the house was concentrated in the vicinity of the Milburn Country Club, where she was released.

U. S. ECONOMIC DELEGATION SAILS FOR LONDON TODAY

the American technicians that attended the preliminary meeting of the various nations in Geneva, where the present agenda in which the delegates have focused their discussions was drawn up. The Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Rexford G. Tugwell, and Charles William Taussig, two of the President's closest advisers, will be in the group of experts. Mr. Taussig is an expert on world sugar problems, and conducted an inquiry into conditions in Cuba for the President soon after the inauguration. The other experts are Henry Chalmers, James Wilson, Victor S. Clark, Leslie A. Wheeler, Frank J. Delaney, Walter R. Gardner and Harry C. Hawkins.

James Clement Dunn, chief of the Protocol Division of the Department of State, will accompany the delegation as secretary.

Speedy Action Predicted.

Prospects for speedy action on international improvement of the price of silver at the London conference seemed the first of the projected economic problems to be canvassed at the magnificent new hall in London, which will serve as the seat of the conference. The House Foreign Affairs Committee urged that the American delegates at London work out a general agreement for fixing a ratio between gold and silver. No specific equivalent was mentioned, however.

The American delegation has limited its presence at the London discussions to two months. Tentative reservations have already been made for the return on August 12 or 15, as it is generally felt that if agreement between the nations can not be made by that time there is scant possibility of ever making it at all.

An attempt also will be made to reduce to a minimum the speech making at the conference, as a succession of addresses by the delegates of every country would absorb the entire time of the conference.

Debt Plans Pressed.

While the delegates are discussing the successive points of the agenda at London, the President will be quietly pursuing his single-handed adjustment of the intergovernmental debt situation. What purported to be a plan of the President's appeared in the press yesterday morning, but it was soon vigorously denied in even stronger terms than scotched the other previous reports of debt proposals. The President's secretary, Stephen T. Early, declared yesterday:

"Press reports stating that the President will use treaty powers to adjust the debts, or would permit partial payment of the principal or [illegible] regulations with doubt as to the word 'pure.'

"The President at this time has no intention and probably never will pursue such a course."

It is believed in authoritative circles that the President will not embark on any debt policy without making a statement of his intentions to Congress before it adjourns, or without at least taking its leaders into his confidence. The reaction of Congress toward the arms embargo resolution which the President desired to have was a clear warning of the jealous intentions of the legislative body of the Government with regard its own prerogatives.

Embargo Case Cited.

The United States had stated its position with regard to "aggressor" nations at the Geneva conference through the lips of American Ambassador at Large Norman H. Davis, and the President was desirous of synchronizing the American position at Geneva with the terms of the arms embargo measure. From the "aggressor" nation, the President desired authority to withhold all shipments of arms or materiel of war. Instead of following the President's request, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee preferred to make the embargo effective on both sides to the controversy, the "aggressor" nation as well as the nation victim of the "aggression."

This show of spirit was not lost on the President, who, thereupon revised any plans he might have had for dealing with the international debt problem in his own fashion and without having recourse to the decision of Congress until the debts had become a "fait accompli." President Roosevelt intends to lay bare to the Congress before its departure, early in June, an outline of his plan with regard to the debt. The date of the next payment is hot upon the projected date for the adjournment of Congress, as the debts fall due June 15, and congressional leaders plan to have adjournment on the tenth.

In administration circles there is no attempt at concealing wide-eyed surprise at the failure of the European governments to discuss the debt problem on a practical basis. The President has reiterated his concern over the imminent debt payment. Yet neither the French nor the British have taken any step which might be interpreted as an initial move toward the settlement of the debt on an unconditional basis. All debt proposals emanating from abroad are conditioned upon other factors, which the President is unable to accept.

Senor Dr. Don Adrian Recinos, Minister to the United States from Guatemala, has been selected to represent his country at the Economic Conference. He will leave for London to-and hospitalization allowances were placed on the Vice President's desk.

STIFF SENATE FIGHT LOOMS ON VETERAN ALLOWANCES

These ranged from a proposal by Senator Trammell (Democrat), Florida, which would limit cuts in disability compensation to 10 per cent, to an amendment by Senator Dill (Democrat), Washington, to prohibit any reductions in disability pay in excess of 33 1-3 per cent.

Senator Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, joined Senator Clark (Democrat), Missouri, in an amendment asking that in no service connected case shall a veteran's compensation be reduced more than 25 per cent under the maximum he has hitherto received.

Virtually all of the amendments carried a motion to suspend the Senate rules to make the legislative changes in order. Senator Trammell's amendment would increase Veterans' Administration appropriations some $45,000,000 to provide for the increases.

Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama, and Senator Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, proposed hospitalization changes. Senator Black asked that $1,000,000 more be appropriated to provide hospital care for former soldiers regardless of service connected injuries, while Senator Tydings sought hospital aid for veterans whether they were injured in line of duty.

on the disability compensations cuts,

Blame for Cuts Disputed.

There were occasional clashes, such as when Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, charged the President had told Budget Director Douglas to reduce Veterans' expenditures $400,000,000 any way he could. Senator Byrnes disputed his statement, asserting Senator Robinson could not know of what he was talking.

Senator Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona, said blame for the cuts should not be laid at the door of Budget Director Douglas and President Roosevelt when Congress, he said, was responsible.

While Senator Steiwer, Senator Walsh (Democrat), Massachusetts, and others, declared most of the regulations could be corrected by Executive orders, some Senators contended that only remedial legislation could repair the injustices done.

Steiwer Leads Attack.

Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, told of a veteran, suffering from a gunshot wound in the back, hernia, arthritis of the spine, and chronic nervousness, all service-connected, formerly receiving $90 a month compensation.

"And now his Government gives him another gunshot woubd in the back," he said. "This man's compensation was cut to $8 a month."

Senator Steiwer, leading the assault charged the economy law was fostered by the National Economy League which he alleged in turn was connected with Wall street and "J. P. Morgan interests."

Nurse Returns Child, Saying She Was Lost

New York, May 30 (A.P.).—Jeremiah Dwyer, 17 months old, was returned to his parents today by his nurse, Miss Anna McDonald, who took him away last night. The baby was in good spirits and had not been harmed.

Miss McDonald explained she had taken him with her while she went to visit a friend on a coal barge and that when she started home she became lost in the rain. She was held on a charge of endangering a child.

Sins Listed

'Road Hogging,' Worrying and Criticizing Are in New Compilation.

Columbus, Ohio, May 30 (A.P.).—"Road hogs" rate as wrongdoers in the up-to-now category of sins which members of the Presbyterian Church in the United States may hear a lot about henceforth.

Those who worry or are superstitious or who criticize or have an "inferiority complex," also rate as sinners.

They're all in a compilation of more than 50 "sins" prepared by Dr. L. D. Young, pastor of the Abbey Presbyterian Church, Dallas, Tex., and presented to members of the General Assembly which adjourned here this week.

There are the sins of class distinction, formality, provincialism, dispositional temper, superstition, snobishness, cheating, littleness and aloofness.

"Being a lone wolf," according to Dr. Young's chart, also puts a man in the sinner class.

Hatfield Says Business Is Falsely Stimulated

(Associated Press.)

Declaring Congress had enacted more socialistic legislation since March 4 than any other government in history except Soviet Russia, Senator Hatfield (Republican), West Virginia, asserted in the Senate yesterday the professors in the administration were responsible and the program was leading to a false stimulation of business.

Declaring the so-called "brain trust" dictated the legislation, including the industrial control bill, Hatfield said the new deal was more in tune with "Norman Thomas, Stalin, Mussolini and Hitler than with principles advocated by Thomas Jefferson."

ALEXANDRIA LEGION HONORS ITS HEROES

Many Brave Rain to Hear Memorial Services in National Cemetery.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 323.

Alexandria Post, No. 94, American Legion, held its annual memorial service yesterday in the National Cemetery at Alexandria. Owing to the heavy rain the attendance was somewhat curtailed, but many persons listened from the protection of automobiles, while others braved the rain.

The Rev. H. J. McFadden, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, was the principal speaker and delivered a stirring eulogy of the men who fought in the World War, and particularly those who made the supreme sacrifice. The Rev. Norris Lineweaver, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church and chaplain of the legion post, gave the invocation and benediction. The drum and bugle corps of the post attended and stood at attention while taps was sounded.

Next Sunday, at 6 p. m., the drum and bugle corps will place a wreath on the grave of William C. Robinson, who was a member of the corps, and who is buried in Bethel Cemetery. A short memorial service will be held.

A committee composed of Sergt. George Everly, Sergt. Frederick Baker and Policemen Curtis and John Stewart yesterday placed wreaths on the graves of five members of the Alexandria police force who met death in line of duty. They were Walker W. Campbell, Sergt. Charles R. McClary, Sergt. E. B. Hummer and Privates A. P. Pierce and W. W. Lipscombe.

Farm Bureau President Chosen Council Leader

Josiah W. Jones, president of the Montgomery County Farm Bureau, was elected president of the Sandy Spring Community Council at its organization meeting. W. W. Moore was elected vice president and John Bancroft, secretary.

Warner E. Pumphrey, past commander of Henderson-Smith-Edmonds Post, American Legion, of Rockville, on behalf of the post yesterday placed an American Flag on the grave of each World War and Spanish-American war veteran buried in Monocacy Cemetery at Beallsville and the cemetery at Darnestown. An American Legion marker was placed on each grave not already marked.

County Women's Clubs to Convene

The Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its annual meeting today in Christ Episcopal Church, Rockville, Md. The meeting will begin at 10:30 a. m. with Mrs. B. Peyton Whalen, president, presiding.

It is expected that several controversial resolutions will be presented to the body for consideration at the business session in the morning. Several State officers have been invited to attend the meeting. Annual reports of the officers and committee chairmen also will be presented in the morning.

Mrs. Whalen, who also is the Maryland director in the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will report on the council meeting which was held last week at Richmond. Mrs. Almus Spear, chairman of hospitality, has charge of luncheon arrangements. Mrs. James H. Alburtis, of Chevy Chase, will talk at the afternoon meeting. She will tell of her winter trip around the world.

Car Hits Alexandria Boy, Breaking Arms and Leg

Walter Martin, 9 years old, of 207 North Fairfax street, Alexandria, was struck and seriously injured yesterday, on South Patrick street, near the Hunting Creek bridge, by an automobile driven by Walter P. Akin, a retired Army sergeant, of 205 Gregory street, Brentwood, Md. Young Martin was walking and, police say, stepped in front of the car. He suffered fractures of a leg and both arms and a severe cut on the chin.

The boy was taken to the Alexandria Hospital by Akin, who will be given a technical hearing in police court as soon as the child is able to appear. The parents of the boy requested that Akin be released.

CHANGES TOMORROW IN TAKOMA CHARTER

Size of Town Increased by One Revision Approved in Legislature.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 8706 Georgia Ave., Silver Spring, Md. Telephone Shepherd 2363.

Several changes in the charter of the town of Takoma Park, approved by the last session of the State Legislature, become effective tomorrow.

The size of the town will be slightly increased by the addition of a narrow strip of land at Ray and Sligo roads in Prince Georges County. Employment of a certified public accountant to make an annual audit of the town's books also was approved.

Another provision includes the town elections in the corrupt practices act and makes it unlawful to publish campaign literature without including the names of the persons responsible.

One item can not become effective until next year, that providing for salaries for the mayor and council members. This must be acted on at the next election, May, 1934. Each two years one member of the town council must be elected from the Prince Georges County section of the town, under another new item. This has been done this year, although it was not compulsory by law.

Anniversary of Altar Marked in Alexandria

A special mass was celebrated in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Alexandria, by the Very Rev. Thomas A. Rankin, pastor, yesterday, in observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the consecration of the altar in that church.

A record in the Congressional Library shows that on Sunday, May 30, 1858, the then new altar was solemnly consecrated by the Most Rev. Archbishop Kenrick, attended by the Rev. Peter Kroes, pastor of the church, and other priests, together with the thurifer, acolyte and cross bearer, and all the sacred officers. The altar is of Italian marble resting upon a foundation of bricks built from the ground up. It has three recessed panels in front, the center columns support the table of the altar, and a beautiful Ionic tabernacle graces the whole structure.

Snow and Rain Hit Services.

Albany, N. Y., May 30 (A.P.).—Snow flakes mixed with rain drops dampened the Memorial Day ceremonies here today. The snow melted before reaching the ground.

Senator Asks Morgan To Exchange Its Bonds

(Associated Press.)

Senator Bone (Democrat), Washington, called upon J. P. Morgan & Co. from the Senate floor yesterday to exchange its Government bonds for new obligations bearing a lower rate of interest, as a patriotic duty.

Asserting that the Government owed $340,000,000 to the House of Morgan last winter, Bone called upon the bankers to "share in the sacrifices we must all make if this Republic is to be preserved."

DEFECTS IN RECOVERY BILL.

Business and industrial interests are registering a vigorous protest against some provisions of the industry control bill. This opposition is not aimed at the central purpose of the measure, but at various provisions that would result in bringing some industries under bureaucratic domination. The National Association of Manufacturers is so alarmed at the broad grant of power to a Federal dictator in cases where industrial groups are not able to agree upon a code of fair competition that it has called a meeting of industrialists from all parts of the country to enlist support for its proposed amendments.

So far as the measure carries out President Roosevelt's objective of partnership between the Government and industry, it meets with full support of business men. But that section which goes beyond partnership and sets up a bureaucratic dictatorship over private enterprise can not be approved by practical men of the industrial world. If any industry is unable to work out an agreement for cooperative action, it is not to be supposed that a satisfactory arrangement could be worked out by a bureau in Washington.

Many industries will be able to take advantage of the so-called partnership arrangement. Some have already outlined codes of fair competition which they will offer for Federal approval as soon as the measure is enacted. But no good can come from the establishment of a dictatorship over those industries that do not wish to take advantage of cooperative action under Government supervision. Industrialists fear that an attempt to force industry into a strait-jacket of bureaucratic control would retard rather than promote recovery.

One other objection is the failure of the measure to provide any control over imports. Industries which have to meet foreign competition can not safely agree to pay higher wages, to limit hours of work, to curtail output, &c., unless they have some assurance that foreign producers will not be allowed to rush larger shipments to the American market to take advantage of the improved situation. President Roosevelt's program ought to be supplemented by similar action in all industrial nations or by higher tariffs to protect American enterprise. Since the probability of a concerted world-wide program to raise prices is remote, the demand for greater domestic protection may gather unexpected strength.

Another complaint centers upon taxation. Industry favors the sales tax to finance public works, because the proposed higher income taxes approved by the House are both unproductive and discouraging to business. Double taxation of dividends is also extremely distasteful to industry.

The opinion has also been expressed that the bill discriminates against employers in favor of labor. Provisions for the protection of labor are mandatory, while provisions for protection of employers are left to the discretion of the dictatorship. It is contended that the bill as it stands would jeopardize the principles of the open shop and force all employes into labor unions.

NAZIS CAPTURE DANZIG.

The tension long existing between Poland and Germany will be heightened by the success of the German National Socialists in the elections for members of the Volkstag in the Free City of Danzig. The Nazi victory was not unexpected, and Danzig is still governed under the direction of a commissioner from the League of Nations, but a majority of Hitlerites in the little parliament which elects the senate, which in turn acts as a city council for Danzig, will inevitably increase the danger of a clash in this international tinder box.

Reports from Warsaw indicate that Polish authorities are deeply concerned regarding the future of Danzig, following the division of authority created by the election. The Nazis will now dominate city affairs, but Poland will continue to be responsible for foreign policies and will remain in control of harbor traffic under the League.

German political leaders in Danzig have not disguised their hope of shaping the free city's future so that it might be reunited with the mother country. German resentment against Poland has been intensified by the development by the Warsaw government of the rival port of Gdynia. Evidently foreseeing the loss of control in Danzig, owing to the great preponderance of Teutonic residents, Poland has spent large sums on the new terminal for Polish commerce and is diverting much traffic in that direction.

The overwhelming Nazi vote, in comparison with that of any other party, was, of course, due to the prestige of the rise of Hitlerism in Germany. From a vote of 32,000 in 1930, the Nazi strength grew to 107,000 in Sunday's voting. In a radio greeting to Danzig, Chancellor Hitler said that "the great mission of National Socialism is to build a bridge between all co-nationals beyond our borders, because they belong to us." National rivalries in Danzig are being watched over by the high commissioner of the League of Nations, Helmer Rosting, who is a Dane.

"NO DISMISSALS."

In announcing a policy of "no dismissals in the postal service" Postmaster General Farley has established an excellent precedent. The Postoffice Department is the largest employer of labor in the Federal service. Its practice in this regard will doubtless be followed by the other Government agencies.

While the administration is sponsoring a gigantic public works bill to create employment and is urging industry to spread available work and increase wages, it would create a very unfavorable impression for the Government to dismiss large numbers of its own employes. Economy is absolutely essential, but it can be achieved by methods similar to those advocated by the Government for private industry. Mr. Farley intends to encourage voluntary retirement, to reduce hours of work and to trim down the allowances for rural carriers. When the postal business returns to normal, these limitations can be gradually removed. In the meantime hardships resulting from lower postal revenues will be spread among a great many employes instead of being concentrated upon a few.

It is gratifying to note that the Postoffice Department does not intend to use the compulsory retirement plan, regardless of what Congress decides as to the advisability of such a provision. Compulsory retirement after 30 years of service, it was found, would cost the department many of its most experienced men who now occupy supervisory and administrative positions. This fact may induce Congress to make the retirement provision now under consideration purely voluntary. Congress can not ignore the obvious loss that the Federal service would sustain from the compulsory retirement plan.

FORTIFYING THE BOSPORUS.

One of the interesting problems which the Geneva disarmament conference has brought forward is the Turkish demand for the suppression of the clauses of the Treaty of Lausanne which deal with the Bosporus. This means that Turkey wishes to remilitarize the area which the convention keeps open, in peace and war. Arguing that she should be allowed to do as she likes with her own territory, Turkey says that she can no longer tolerate this infringement on her sovereign rights.

Such fortification would greatly alter the situation in case of war involving any of the near-eastern nations. It is, therefore, highly significant that the Soviet delegate has heartily supported the Turkish demand. Russia's willingness to see the straits fortified makes it appear that she never expects to be on hostile terms with Turkey. Some observers feel sure that, in view of this stand, a secret military treaty between the two nations must exist, since before the war Russia was strongly opposed to the fortifying of the Bosporus.

Most of the Balkan nations, on the other hand, view the proposal for the militarization of the straits with no little misgivings. Roumania feels that, while the straits convention was far from perfect, it was the best solution which could be reached. The straits commission, since its organization, has been able to settle all disputes which have arisen regarding interpretation.

The great powers for the most part are expected to oppose the Turkish demand. Because of the unsettled conditions in Europe today, Turkey is hoping that brewing political combinations will cause at least one of these powers to support her claim. One of the important conditions of the treaty is that no non-Black Sea power shall send into the Black Sea warships which would outnumber the strongest Black Sea naval power. This power, today, is Russia.

ITALY'S FLYERS.

An Italian aviator holds the world's record for airplane speed, and a plane is being built for him in which he will attempt to fly at the rate of 600 miles an hour. If the plane makes 500 miles it will add about 75 miles to the present record. Even more spectacular, and at the same time more practical, is the preparation of an entire squadron of planes to fly from Italy to the Century of Progress exposition at Chicago. Twenty-four seaplanes are being groomed for the flight, which is to take place early in June.

Orbetello has been called the Pensacola of Italy. This small port lies half way between Rome and Pisa on the bay of Santo Stefano and it is here that the largest group of planes that ever attempted an oceanic flight together is being prepared for the great adventure. It is not the intention to attempt the great hop in a single flight. Six stops will be made, at Amsterdam, Holland; Belfast, Ireland; Reykjavik, Iceland; Cartwright, Labrador; Shediac, New Brunswick; Montreal, Canada, and from there to Chicago.

The Aerial high seas navigation school of Italy is located at Orbetello, which explains why the air armada is being prepared there. Ample hangars and repair shops are available, and the locality offers ideal conditions for the trial flights incidental to tuning up the ships of the squadron. Each plane is to carry a crew of four, and there has been a lively competition among Italy's aviators to be counted among the lucky number who will make the transatlantic flight. Needless to say, they will be given a royal welcome upon their arrival at Chicago.

Following the stay in Chicago General Italo Balbo, Italian Air Minister, will lead his squadron, in technical command of General Aldo Pellegrini, to New York. On their visit to the metropolis the big Savoia-Marchetti flying boats will make their base at Port Washington, L. I., where the planes will be serviced for the return trip of 6,000 miles which will be continued in formation. The start from Italy is planned for about June 10.

GERMANY'S DEBTS.

American representatives are in Berlin for the meeting called on short notice by Dr. Schacht of the Reichsbank to consider the short term credits and the long term loans extended to the German government, states and municipalities and large industrial corporations. United States investors are the largest creditors, but the American delegates to the parley now in session can make no definite commitments, since they represent the distributing houses rather than the present holders of these German obligations. The situation is one which emphasizes anew the need of an American organization of foreign bondholders so that concerted action could be taken whenever occasion requires to protect their interests.

There is an ominous note in the preliminary announcement from Berlin. German finances are again in a parlous state. Gold and foreign currency reserves have fallen to a point that provides note coverage of less than 10 per cent, and a declining export surplus makes the outlook for payments on foreign private debts increasingly dubious. Germany's foreign debt totals about $5,000,000,000, on which the annual service charges exceed $400,000,000, while the rate of export surplus for the first quarter of this year is not sufficient to supply one-third of that amount.

As American holders of German securities are not organized and the short notice of the Berlin meeting offered no opportunity for securing any concerted agreement from the thousands of scattered purchasers, all the American representatives can do is to report to the distributing banks and ultimately to the investors the results of the Berlin meeting. As seems to be the custom now, Germany, the debtor, makes the proposals which the creditors, perforce, will probably have to accept without other recourse. If nothing further is demanded than a moratorium on the short-term credits and a re-allocation of funds available for foreign debt service, American creditors can probably consider themselves fortunate.

Nearly one-half of Germany's foreign debt is represented by the short-time loans which were included in the "standstill" arrangement agreed to in 1931 and extended several times since. Last year, owing to favorable trade balances and stable currency, Germany paid off nearly $400,000,000 of foreign indebtedness. It appears much more likely that substantial concessions rather than payments may be expected this year.

While the Senate banking committee holds an investigation to help protect the investing public, the House banking committee announces that it is all right for the Government to break its pledge to investors.

With Christian Bullitt at his elbow, and Ray Moley following to overhaul his work, Secretary Hull can't go wrong at the economic conference; and besides, if he does he'll be set right.

Now that Arcturus has started the Chicago Exposition, perhaps he can be induced to throw light on the flotations of bum foreign bonds in the United States.

Senator Glass objects to "police court tactics" in the examination of big bankers, but Senator Couzens is afraid that the police courts will not be called into action.

Ambassador Claude Bowers witnessed a bullfight at Madrid, and promptly uttered a dithyramb that proved to Spaniards how little they know the bull.

It's some relief to have veterans demanding jobs instead of cash out of the Treasury, but even jobs in the woods are subject to limitations.

The Morgan partners are surprised at the company's profits, and the Internal Revenue Bureau is surprised at their losses.

France and Britain are waiting anxiously for June 15 so they can apply Uncle Sam's new theory of repudiating contracts.

With Senator Couzens on the London economic delegation there is assurance of a vigorous minority report.

GLORIFYING NOISE.

From the Boston Transcript.

The world is glad to pay honor to those inventors who have lightened human labor and added to our powers of enjoyment, though many, alas, like Palissy the potter and Goodyear, who first hit upon the industrial possibilities of rubber, often die before their genius receives due recognition. But how about the inventors whose contraptions have contributed to the desolation or torment of mankind? Does the inventor of chewing-gum deserve a storied urn? or the inventor of the machine gun? And who was the man that invented the bagpipes? Should not the animated bust to his memory, if one exists, be stood on its head to show just what the world thinks of him—at any rate, outside of Scotland?

Paris has just been celebrating the memory of Adolphe Sax, the man who gave us what an Englishman calls, with fine restraint, "an intrinsically regrettable instrument," namely, the saxophone. We may admit that the saxophone has a place in the world, in the hands and at the lips of a virtuoso in an orchestra. But we are never permitted to forget the mad infatuation it exerts upon the amateur, often all through the night. At such times the listener feels that the inventor should not receive the Parisian tribute of concord of sweet sounds, wreaths and rhetoric. Rather his effigy should be set up in some dark limbo along with those of the inventor of poison gas, of hot dogs, of crooning—to be remembered for his sins by an eternal inflable silence.

POST HASTE.

South American peace is raging at Geneva, but air bombs still rain in the Chaco.

The 56,000 manufacturers of the national association are called to Washington to protest the industry bill. This is going to test the capacity of Fort Hunt.

Reports that Gandhi is recovering on orange juice indicates that those California boosters never overlook a bet.

The proposed House levy on stock dividends would cause capitalists the annoyance of transferring to tax-exempt bonds.

What gave Americans such an exaggerated idea of market demands? The Government sold Liberty bonds and spent the money; the buyers hocked the bonds and spent the money; then everybody began buying on the installment plan—the same money spent three times.

Contemplating the present foreign and domestic crop of dictators, one wonders which world it was that was made secure for alleged democracies.

Debtors are relishing the prospect of relief from gold clause demands unless they find that their interests as creditors are more important.

If a percentage reduction of tariffs will so increase international trade why haven't greatly lowered prices increased exports?

It looks as though Uncle Sam would have to apologize to Mexico for some of the nasty things he said to her about retroactive laws a few years ago.

Increasing business activity in spite of present uncertainties shows how trade will again hit its accustomed stride when present doubts are settled.

Adding refreshing variety to the shot-in-the-arm simile, one economist says inflation is like drinking sea water to quench thirst.

Why keep on fooling themselves? If Europe can't find a way to reconcile the differences between France and Germany it might as well become reconciled to another war.

Capt. Mollison is going to fly the Atlantic again and Amy is coming along this time to see that he doesn't stay so long in New York.

The conscription law having expired, our economic squad leaves for the London fray a bit undermanned.

Germany wiped out internal debts with a mark that was inflated to the stratosphere. Dr. Schacht now offers foreign creditors the alternative of a similar fate or big concessions.

So Senator Couzens will go to London to keep our British cousins from cozening us. PAUL HUDSON.

THE NEWEST FAD.

No household can be built so strong
To shut out fads that come along.
Set sentries at each door and gate,
They'll enter just as sure as fate.

In seven and twenty years and more
I've seen skirts sweep the parlor floor,
Then climb by Fashion's stern decrees
Until they scarcely hid her knees.

Talk as I would, 'twas all in vain,
The newest fad awhile would reign.
To keep in style she bobbed her hair,
Then picked out funny hats to wear.

Came Mah Jhong with its tiles to rack,
Nor all my strength could hold it back;
But when the lure of that was gone
The Jigsaw puzzle followed on.

What next is due? What lies ahead?
What newest fad have I to dread?
This terrifying shock awaits
That Ma will fall for roller skates!

All Progress Is a Matter of Quitting Ways That Seemed Right Yesterday.
By ROBERT QUILLEN

A SWEET and gentle old lady, who spends much of her time reading the Bible, said to me on one occasion: "Adam must have been a smart man to think up such suitable names for the animals—only it wasn't hard to name the hog. Anybody could tell it was a hog, just by looking at it."

That mental quirk may amuse you, but it isn't at all unusual. When the news reel presents some foreign statesman who speaks in his native tongue, scattered giggles attest the belief that he is talking gibberish. It might impress his countrymen, but it is merely a jumble of funny sounds to those who don't understand it.

The familiar and accustomed thing seems right and sane and the unusual thing seems wrong. If a custom or standard has been long established, we accept it without question or examination. It seems one of the natural phenomena, like the coming of daylight and darkness.

At present there is some concern about the gold content of the dollar. To conservative minds the present standard seems as irrevocably fixed and as infallibly correct as the number of units in a dozen or the number of feet that light will travel in a second. They accept it as a natural law. Yet the standard was fixed within the memory of men now living, and any other weight or fineness might have been determined upon without at all affecting the destiny of the race.

The great miracle of the ages is the fact that man has achieved so much and come so far despite his love of precedent and his inborn aversion to change.

It is youth that changes the world, and the ability to change is proof of a mind still young.

It is common knowledge that a man has reached the zenith and begun the downward journey when his mind begins to dwell on the past instead of the future. Whether his age is 60 or 40 or 20, his mind is old.

It is natural for the mind to grow old as the body does. Why should it conceive new adventures when the body no longer has the energy to carry them through?

But you can keep your mind young if you will. Nothing is required except an interest in the future and a willingness to entertain new ideas.

The old are those who regard established ways as final. They dread change because they can't think new thoughts. And when the mind can't break new ground, the man is ready for the shelf.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Deposit Guaranty.
Topeka Capital.

Guaranty of bank deposits is a risk, but the Glass bill surrounds it with some safeguards looking toward safer banking practice and better supervision. If the guaranty of deposits can be made safe, it will make an end of money hoarding and prove a valuable measure in prevention of bank "runs" and the slow leak of deposits which follow a series of bank failures.

This is an experiment on a national scale, the results of which can not be foretold. Guaranty of deposits unfortunately does not in itself create confidence in the conduct of banks, and what is most needed is sound banking. In many countries it seems possible to avoid bank failures, not by deposit guaranty, but by good banking and effectual supervision. This city is an example of public confidence in banks, not due to guaranteed deposits but to sound banking practices. On the other hand, bank failures have shocked the Nation and led to hoarding of more than a billion dollars of money that properly should be on deposit in banks. Notwithstanding the vigorous measures of the administration since March 4 there are some 600 millions of hoarded money still out of use.

Keep Up Defenses.
Detroit Free Press.

We must have economy, that is clear. At the same time, in view of the present disturbed state of world affairs, it is folly to reduce our effective fighting strength more than is absolutely necessary. The answer to the problem may lie along the lines of increasing the reserve of recently trained men as fast as possible by adopting a policy of taking in new recruits and turning those whose terms of enlistment expire back into civil life.

Astute Carter Glass.
Louisville Courier-Journal.

If it had not been for the testimony of J. P. Morgan before the Senate's Banking and Currency committee, the Glass-Steagall banking reform bill might not have had such easy sailing in the upper house of Congress. But, primarily, the passage of this momentous measure, embodying fundamental changes in the conduct of the banking business in the United States, is due to the perspicacity of Senator Carter Glass, its principal author.

Discouraged by the sidetracking of the bill during the last short session of the Hoover administration, the doughty Virginian set to work again to bring about the reforms of which the institution of banking in this country stands sadly in need. He strengthened his bill, chiefly by adding to it the provision for the guarantee of deposits—a policy over which storms of political debate have roared for forty years. Lukewarm support on the part of some of his colleagues and outspoken opposition from others did not deter him. Quietly, indefatigably, aided by his years of experience in parliamentary matters, the Virginia senator brought his bill into strategic position. An alliance with Congressman Steagall effected its passage just before Banker Morgan took the stand in the banking inquiry.

There's a Difference.
Akron Beacon-Journal.

America's plan: "Let's save ourselves by saving the world." Europe's plan: "Let's save ourselves by skinning America."

When Congress Will Balk.

THE ONCE OVER
By H. I. PHILLIPS

FLOATING THE NEW STOCK.

(As Washington, according to recent developments, would apparently like it done.)

The scene is the office of a big banking house. The partners have completed plans for financing and are somewhat timidly reviewing the set-up.

First partner—Then, as I understand it, everything is ready for the launching of the new corporation?

Second partner—Yes. I don't think we've skipped a single detail. There is nothing left to do but sell the bonds and stock.

First partner—Has every member of the House of Representatives at Washington been sent a folder giving the fullest facts?

Second partner—Yes, sir.

Third partner—We've sent a copy to every member of the U. S. Senate, too.

First partner—Has the Federal Trade Commission been fully acquainted with every fact?

Second partner—We've given it all data regarding the stock distribution, showing all commissions and discounts paid or to be paid to the underwriter, directly or indirectly.

* * * *

First partner—Have we given it a full description of all factors surrounding the physical issuance of the securities, the names of all officers and directors, and the names of all persons holding 10 per cent or more of the prior securities?

Third partner—In order that the Government may feel certain everything is open and aboveboard, we have sent not only the names of such persons but their latest photographs.

Second partner—Full length or bust?

Third partner—We sent both kinds, full length and head and shoulders.

First partner—Splendid, and if it could be managed, I think we should arrange a dinner so the members of the Federal Trade Commission can meet all the stockholders and directors in person.

Second partner—Do any of the stockholders or directors wear spats?

First partner—I think not. Why?

Second partner—The chairman of the Federal Trade Commission is very much opposed to two things in industry—spats and polka-dot neckties.

* * * *

First partner—We'd better make a check-up, then. Now have we sent every Government body a detailed description of the business and financial condition of the company, the salaries of its officers, the character of its products, &c.?

Third partner—I've even sent in character certificates of all officers and employes, with a complete record of their lives from the cradle up.

First partner—Have we sent advertisements to all the newspapers giving the public full data?

Second partner—Yes.

First partner—Have we arranged for Mr. Peemsbitters, the president and general manager of the company, to go on the radio every night at six and give a little intimate talk to America on the company's receipts and expenditures for the previous twenty-four hours?

Second partner—I'm sorry, but there's a little hitch about that. Mr. Peemsbitters wants to talk only three nights a week.

First partner (indignantly)—I knew something would hold up this flotation! Well, we'll just have to drop everything until he realizes his duty as a business man to the people of America!

WHAT? ONLY 20?

A major sign of the improved feeling is that people once more are expressing disappointment because a stock held by them has only gone up 20 points in ten days.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Thoughts on Century of Progress Exposition—Should Inspire Better Citizenship.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Of Chicago's Century of Progress we are told that "it affords a living picture of advancement in almost every line of human endeavor—industry, transportation and communication, science and the arts." Indeed, as a display of civilization's wealth of things material, it may be said that the full scope of the stereotyped word "marvelous" is taxed to describe it.

So that its tens of millions of visitors might most profitably enjoy it, it would be well if, as its most important feature, there were some great orator to make it the inspiring background for uplifting and forward-looking discourse. He might inquire, What have we done in civic affairs to make this magnificently modernistic mechanical display worth while? He might preach a sermon to inspire the world with the need for moral, spiritual and political regeneration in order to properly illuminate the cold framework of material advancement. He might say that soul development as well as improved industrial mechanism is necessary to make civilization something better than a mere robot, however magnificent.

Emerson's homely couplet comes to mind: "Of what avail the plow and sail, or land or life, if freedom fail?" Certainly it would do more good than Executive orders and legislative experiments if every visitor to the Century of Progress were induced to view it as an inspiration for better citizenship. "For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

SHOWERS DAMPEN RITES AT ANNAPOLIS

June Week Visitors Dodge Rain at Memorial Day Observances.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 30.—Primarily there was a lull in June Week events at the Naval Academy today, because of the Memorial Day observance, but the day was made even more drab by intermittent showers of rain, and hundreds of visitors were constantly dodging the elements.

Today's lone event was a dance given by the "N Club," an organization composed of midshipmen who have won their letters for athletic competition. This was held in Hubbard Hall, which was brilliantly decorated.

The number of midshipmen to receive graduation diplomas at commencement ceremonies on Thursday will be 432, a recapitulation of statistics revealed today. A fraction above 55 per cent will be commissioned in the service, 216 becoming ensigns in the regular line, 8 as ensigns in the Supply Corps and 20 as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps.

The resignations of 57 submitted either voluntarily or for physical reasons, will become effective immediately following graduation. A total of 130 will be honorably discharged because of insufficient vacancies to award commissions, and there will be one other, a Filipino, who will not be commissioned in the American Navy. All of the graduates will receive the degree of bachelor of science.

President Roosevelt, who is coming here Thursday to address the graduates and present diplomas, will be received with all the honors due his station, including the Presidential salute of 21 guns. Following the ceremonies, the Presidential party will remain at the academy long enough to be luncheon guests of Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, superintendent, and Mrs. Hart.

The graduation exercises will begin at 11 a. m. The fact that the President will be here caused an extraordinary demand for admission tickets to Dahlgren Hall, and it is expected attendance will set a record for such an event. Admiral Hart will preside and introduce the President. After diplomas have been distributed, the superintendent will confer degrees.

Theft of $102 in Cash From Home Reported

Robert Martin, 823 Twenty-first street northwest, reported to police yesterday that $102 in cash was stolen from his home by a burglar who apparently used a duplicate key.

WARDEN AND GUARDS RELEASED AFTER RIDE

tentiary population watched a prison baseball game that was deadlocked, 2-2, in the sixth inning, was the first warning of the escape plot.

Armed convicts, apparently led by Harvey Bailey, suspected of implication in the St. Valentine's Day massacre, in Chicago, and Wilbur Underhill, slayer of a Wichita, Kans., policeman, went cooly about their work.

Warden Was Through.

The break came as Warden Prather was finishing a two-year term as head of the prison. Under the new State administration Lacey Simpson, of Canton, recently was appointed to succeed Prather on June 1.

W. D. Powell, prison storekeeper, said eight convicts quietly drew revolvers and pistols while the Decoration Day baseball game was being played, quickly grouped themselves around Prather and placed a wire around his neck, and proceeded to commandeer keys to one of the guard posts on the wall. Once the keys were obtained, they went up a stairway to the post, lowered a ladder on the other side, and made their dash. The retreat was covered by the warden and hostage guards.

Turning backward as they ran, several of the prisoners fired a volley into the group of watching and helpless guards, wounding John Stewart in the arm.

The dash led to the prison garage where Alex Davis, colored trusty, was washing a sedan belonging to W. W. Woodson, prison farm superintendent. Virginia Woodson, 15, his daughter, was preparing to drive the car away. Davis, seeing the fleeing prisoners and hearing the shots, grabbed the girl from the wheel and ran away from the car toward the Woodson home. The prisoners fired several shots in their direction.

Burke's Pal Escapes.

The eleven escaped prisoners were led by "desperate and smart killers," prison authorities said tonight.

They referred to Harvey Bailey, a pal of Fred Burke, called "America's most dangerous criminal," and Underhill, who killed a soda clerk at Okmulgee, Okla., was sentenced to serve life imprisonment, escaped and later killed a Wichita, Kans., policeman.

Bailey, identified as a participant in the $2,000,000 looting of the Lincoln (Nebr.) Bank & Trust Co., was serving 20 to 100 years for a Fort Scott (Kans.) bank robbery. He and Burke were suspected by authorities of implication in the St. Valentine day gang massacre in Chicago. Burke is serving a life sentence in Michigan for killing a policeman.

Escaped Prisoners Listed.

The other prisoners who escaped were:

Lewis Bechtell, serving 10 to 20 years from Wallace County for bank robbery; Alvis Payton, 20 to 100 years for bank robbery and life for murder of an officer; Jim Clark, Ed Davis, and Frank Sawyer, 20 to 100 years for the robbery of the Fort Scott (Kans.) bank, in which Harvey was convicted of participating; Kenneth Coon, life for murder; Clifford Dopson, 5 to 15 years for grand larceny; Bob Brady, life sentence as a habitual criminal, and Billy Woods, 5 to 15 years.

Kansas City, Kans., May 30 (U.P.). Fear that her captivity would prove fatal to Mrs. M. J. Wood was expressed by her husband tonight.

Wood's wife was kidnaped by Kansas penitentiary mutineers, who also seized his daughter, Louise, 17, and her chum, Clarice Wears, 17, formerly of Higgins, Tex.

Wood explained his wife was a paralytic and in poor health. If freed on a rural road, Wood said, the girls could not get her to a main highway where they could be picked up.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY.

SOMEONE is always taking the joy out of life these days, especially for the Federal employe. Can't he or she be permitted to live an unmolested 24-hours care-free?

One of the Cabinet officials, so anxious to be heard out of time, lets it be known as of this period that cost of living figures, due on July 1 for the current six months, are not likely to change the general 15 per cent Government pay cut. How kind! "Small are they who are great only by power of office."

It is always interesting to observe, as one outlooks on the great parade, how some folks are ever anxious to pose as spokesmen not only for an occupied office, but as well for those who might be constitutionally vested with the final decision.

WITH six weeks before the end of the fiscal year, it does seem ruthless, heartless to deprive Federal employes of the right to hope. After all, it takes all kinds of people to make up the great human family and discoveries of the malplacements are made with a startle of surprise. Some would even go so far as to destroy in childhood the belief that there's a Santa Claus.

Why has the Federal employe now so many self-appointed seers? Such press releases as "Living Cost Figures Won't Affect Pay Cuts" make jobs for somebody—at the cost of saddened lives. Old Sam Johnson knew well the human temperament. "When there is no hope," comments the great philosopher, "there can be no endeavor." Happy lives are possible only when the lamp of hope is allowed to be undimmed. It is better to hope and be disappointed than never to have hoped at all. But maybe that's the program of the powers that be—to create misery in lives that might otherwise drink deeply of the nectar of happiness. Never is silence more appropriate than when speech would add to the sum total of furrowed brows.

DEAR CONGRESS,

GOVERNMENT clerks are desperate. Hundreds of them have lost their small, life-time savings in our District banks. Heavy pay cuts imposed on them have driven them into the clutches of loan-sharks and money lenders, who are charging up to 20 per cent.

Hundreds of Federal employes can not meet their obligations and debts. They are actually facing loss of their homes.

I am convinced that something ought to be done about this, and quickly, too! I see no reason why Federal clerks who are up against it should not be permitted to borrow small sums from their own retirement fund money at 6 per cent.

Our Government lends a helping hand to farmers, bankers and railroad magnates, why not to American citizens who are actually conducting the business of our Government, namely, the Government clerks.

A SALINE TRAGEDY.

DURING celebration of Music Week in this vicinity one of the service bands gave a concert, an affair that was held out in the country, several miles from Washington.

The band was transported in a large bus from its quarters and was returning after the affair was over when engine trouble developed.

They stopped near a farm house which had been pestered by marauders. The farmer, a kind hearted man, had armed himself with a shotgun loaded with table salt.

It was a rather dark night and as several members of the band were working on the job of repairing the bus under visual difficulties someone suggested that the "Moonlight Sonata" be played to obtain more light on the matter. A mixture of the "Moonlight Sonata" and "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise" was started. This brought the unappreciative farmer to his bedroom window with the shotgun. He fired just about the time that the machine was fixed and the band rode off of location without argument and not playing an encore.

No casualties save that sustained by the tuba player, a large man, who had been in a stooping position when the shot was fired, and who had a prominent part of his anatomy highly seasoned. The tuba player was obliged to take his meals for several days in a vertical position and mostly from a tea cart. A friend calling one day when he was demolishing a dish of ham and cabbage inquired about how he enjoyed his meals.

"All right," he replied, "except that I don't like my hams quite so salty."

CONDUCT IN ARREST OF DRIVER SCORED

Capital Man Says Maryland Policeman Was Abusive Before Women.

Complaint of the actions and language of a Maryland State police sergeant in making an arrest near Savage, Md., is voiced in a letter sent yesterday to Commissioner of Motor Vehicles A. E. Baughman, at Baltimore, Md., by Saul Lewis, 501 Upshur street northwest, member of the firm of Boyce & Lewis, local shoe merchants.

Mr. Lewis wrote to the commissioner, charging that Sergt. A. E. Markley, in command of the Laurel substation, had used abusive language and was guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer in arresting him for a traffic violation.

The complainant states that he was stopped by the policeman for driving with one light at the crest of a hill. When the officer halted him, his car slipped back two feet and collided with the parked motorcycle of the policeman, Mr. Lewis says. The sergeant became infuriated when another policeman failed to straighten out the hand-brake lever on the handlebar and decided to arrest Mr. Lewis on charges of reckless driving, he said.

Mr. Lewis said that Justice of the Peace J. Edwin Haslip, of near Savage, remonstrated with the sergeant and asked if he could not prefer some other charge but that the policeman insisted on charging him with reckless driving.

"I am not complaining of the justice meted in this particular case but of the officer's conduct in making the arrest to which I have other persons who will attest," Mr. Lewis wrote. He said the policeman used abusive language despite the fact that his wife and a woman guest were in the car with him.

Annapolis Parade Led By Naval Academy Band

Annapolis, Md., May 30.—Led by the Naval Academy Band, members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Fleet Reserve, and other patriotic organizations paraded the city today and held Memorial Day exercises at the national and naval cemeteries in tribute to the war dead of the community. A company of blue jackets from ships assigned in local waters and a firing squad of Marines also were in the line of march.

At the Naval Cemetery services were held at the grave of Commander Fred T. Berry, one of the victims of the Akron disaster. Lieut. Edward B. Harp, assistant chaplain of the Academy, presided. The oration was delivered by Lee Turner, fourth district committeeman of the Disabled War Veterans. Benjamin Michaelson, counsel to the board of county commissioners, spoke at the National Cemetery.

Long Confers With Mussolini.

Rome, May 30 (A.P.).—Breckinridge Long, the new American ambassador, had his first conference with Premier Mussolini today. He spent some time in the premier's office in Venezia Palace. Tomorrow morning he will present his credentials to the king.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT JUST goes to show to what lengths a pretty swell actress can be driven by too much miscasting and an undeserved succession of roles that fall as far below her capabilities as 'way down to here!

I mean this business about Minna Gombell, one of the most competent women in Hollywood, and apparently, one of the least appreciated. But to begin at the beginning—always an excellent starting place—Miss Gombell by birth is a near neighbor. She was born in Baltimore. And just so many years ago last Sunday, May 28, if you must know.

Minna Gombell.

Further than that, something in the nature of a tie binding her to the interest of the Capital might be fabricated out of the circumstance that she is closest friend and erstwhile apartment-sharer of Kathryn Givney, the brilliant young woman whose endowments add so appreciably to the enjoyment of the weekly bills of the National Theater Players.

They wear the same size clothes, the same size talents and the same size smiles, so were probably born to be sisters under the grease paint.

But to get back to this latest Gombell matter, what does this charming actress, who made her stage debut in 1912 and her first New York appearance at the Garrick Theater as Denise in "Madam President," in 1913, up and do a couple of days ago but slip quietly away to Yuma, Ariz., the Gretna Green of the gelatine colony, and marry Joseph Sefton, jr., vice president of the San Diego (Calif.) Trust & Savings Bank!

It just further goes to show the courage of the girl, marrying a banker in times like these, when all bankers are on the spot and some of them even being bundled into the wagon!

However, perhaps Miss Gombell is inured, as you might say, to the uncertainties of matrimony. She was first, or so the records betray, Mrs. Howard C. Rumsey and then Mrs. Myron C. Fagan, who will tell you that he writes plays, and, therefore, is a playwright.

This, obviously, is an occasion for what Frank Orth still refers to as "conglomerations!"

Mr. Ned E. Depinet, formerly one of the moderately big shots of First National and now distribution chief for RKO-Radio pictures, is setting the minds of the depressionists at rest by making happy noises concerning the product of his company about to be released to the exhibitors of the land.

There seem to be some right forte features included in Mr. Depinet's hosannas, among them such as these: "Melody Cruise," a girl-and-music show being rushed for June release, with Charlie Ruggles, Phil Harris, the West Coast's favorite bandsman; Gretta Nissen and Helen Mack, the girl with Lionel Barrymore in "Sweepings," prominently cast.

Constance Bennett, with Joel McCrea, John Halliday and Pert Kelton in "Bed of Roses"—which sounds almost autobiographical.

Richard Halliburton's "India Speaks," an amazing revelation of the mystic land where cows are sacred and girls are married off at 10!

Chester Morris and Vivienne Osborne, with Henry Stephenson, Frank McHugh and Allen Jenkins in "Tomorrow at Seven"—which seems a little early, unless they mean in the evening.

Richard Dix in "The Public Be Sold," which sounds vaguely like a mild denaturant of one of Mr. Phineas T. Barnum's justly celebrated wisecracks about what the public might best be.

William Boyd and Wynne Gibson in "Emergency Call," made to order for the ambulance chasers.

Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster, Frank McHugh, Gregory Ratoff, ZaSu Pitts and Franklin Pangborn in "Professional Sweetheart," now in the cutting room.

William Powell and Ann Harding in "Double Harness."

"The Big Brain," a gambling racket melodrama, with Phillips ("Deadpan") Holmes, George Stone, the up-and-coming Miss Fay Wray, Sam Hardy (long time no see) and Minna Gombell, whom we haven't mentioned in this column since away back yonder in that first item.

If RKO knew you were interested, they would probably urge you to depinet afternoon and look 'em over!

It was a delightfully informal levee that Harry Somerville, the Capital's most genial boniface, aided and abetted by Manager Hardie Meakin of RKO-Keith's, and with Gene Dennis, the charming young psychic, as guest of honor, hurled at a fortunate company of invited guests as a cheerful climax of a dismal Memorial Day, at the Willard yesterday afternoon from 5 to as long after 7 as the chicken salad and pretzels held out.

By a rare accretion of consideration and good judgment, the guests, including Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, and other notables, successfully combated a strong temptation and never asked Miss Dennis a question that might put an extra-prosc enium tax on her remarkable powers—well, that is, hardly any!

The ladies present were undoubtedly fortified in their determination not to convert Miss Dennis' party into a professional demonstration of her powers of divination by the knowledge that tomorrow morning, at 9:30 o'clock, Gene is to give a special matutinal matinee exclusively for women at RKO-Keith's, where she is now in the second week of a sensationally successful engagement.

In the Welcome Lewis act, headlining the current week's stage bill at the Earle, is a young man in whom Washington should feel an especial interest—that is, if Washington cares anything at all about following the careers of its native sons.

In the musical ensemble that affords Miss Lewis accompaniment in her song numbers is a robust young guitar-twanger, whom many old friends in this city already have recognized. He is Darrell Wallace Calker, born 26 years ago in a large red brick house at the corner of Eighteenth and Newton streets, a graduate of Business and Tech, where he starred in football; a graduate engineer, who had much to do with the laying out of Winterhaven, Fla., even if he did like music better, and now recognized as one of the best musical arrangers in the business.

Mr. Calker, a member of the permanent musical organization of the old Roxy Theater in New York, also serves as arranger for the Boswell Sisters and many of the most popular orchestras scattered about the metropolis.

While still a resident of Washington, he was associated with Meyer Davis, Dave MacWilliams, Spencer Tuppman and many others of the best known of the Capital's musicians. While with the Davis organization he played at Le Paradis and at the Chateau Le Paradis, of incinerated memory. His instrument then was the banjo.

For the past year he has been associated with the Welcome Lewis broadcasts and looks upon that talented young woman as the most gracious personality with whom he has ever been identified. For a time he was a member of the Brunswick Record House Band, and also was associated at one time with Don Bigelow.

Mr. Calker's arrangements for orchestra are in wide demand and are at present being played by a majority of the "hot" bands specializing in novel and tricky effects up and down Broadway and crosstown.

Prior to his orchestral work, this gifted young man was known as the foremost boy soprano of the Washington Cathedral Choir. His first professional orchestral appearance was made at Le Paradis—now Walter von Herbulis' Club Michel—as a banjoist at the age of 14!

Now you know.

So that's what the Weather Bureau calls, "Cloudy, possible showers," eh?

Mellon Tax Stand Is Cited by Reed

(Associated Press.)

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, calling Senate attention to a resolution for investigating income tax payments by Andrew W. Mellon, yesterday told colleagues the former Secretary of the Treasury had urged revision of income tax laws to prevent deduction of capital losses from returns.

It was the capital loss deduction provision of the law that enabled J. P. Morgan and his many partners to escape paying income tax in the last two years, and only $48,000 in 1930 after paying $11,000,000 in 1929.

CIGAR CLERK BEATEN IN HOLDUP ON AVENUE

who was directing traffic on the corner.

At the hospital it was found Snyder suffered concussion of the brain, a fractured left arm and severe shock. He was unable to give police an estimate of the cash register contents. The entire till was cleaned out, he said. Store officials later learned about $400 was missing.

Snyder, who lives at 1336 East Capitol street, was only recently transferred to the Pennsylvania avenue store. On November 27, 1932, he fell victim to a pair of bandits, who escaped with $215 from a branch of the cigar company at Fifteenth and G streets northwest. On that occasion he was bound and gagged, struck on the head and locked in the store.

Although two men were arrested in the case, police expressed the belief that the two robberies might be connected. Snyder was also held up at the same store a few months previous in 1932.

DALADIER MAY SIGN DUCE'S PEACE PACT

Four-Power Plan Expected to Be Initialed in Rome Tomorrow.

Paris, May 30 (A.P.).—The Chamber of Deputies gave Premier Daladier a free hand by a vote of 434 to 138 today to sign Premier Mussolini's four-power peace pact, if he wishes to do so.

In chamber lobbies it was understood that the cabinet had decided unanimously to sign the Mussolini plan, and it was expected that this would be done before the end of the week.

The Mussolini plan calls for unified action for peace by France, Italy, Great Britain and Germany. France originally objected to it on the ground that the rights of the smaller powers would not be protected and that Europe would be ruled by a directorate of the great nations. Since that time the agreement has been amended to meet the French objections.

Rome, May 30 (A.P.).—Premier Mussolini's four-power peace pact will be initialed Thursday in the premier's office at the Genezia Palace, it was expected today.

The signing will be done by the French, British and German ambassadors and possibly by the Italian premier himself. Thursday will be the day, it was said, if the work of translating the text into English, German and Italian has been finished by that time. The French text has been used in negotiations.

It is possible that the premier will review the negotiations in the Senate on Friday, when there will be a discussion of the foreign ministry's budget.

Only One Virginia Letter Raps Glass

(Associated Press.)

Senator Carter Glass, fiery Virginian, has been deluged with letters denouncing his clashes over the procedure in the Morgan inquiry, but he said yesterday only one of them was from Virginia.

Of five letters he received from the Old Dominion commenting on the inquiry, he said, four were commendatory.

More than half the others were critical and many he said were "insulting." One, postmarked New York City and unsigned, threatened him with death.

WOMEN'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE MOTOR CAR

There is some doubt that people care to hear very much about what goes on under the hoods of their cars.

The driver knows that "driving qualities" are not accidental; they are put there. How the manufacturer creates or evolves those results may not interest him. He judges entirely by the results he gets in driving.

Well, it is not essential to talk "shop"; let us talk Results.

Smoothness. Drive the Ford V-8 and you will find that the engine runs with surpassing smoothness, due to its design and the extra precise methods of its manufacture.

Power. There it is, 75 horsepower (we could say 80) at the driveshaft for the driver's use. With less weight to pull around, the mettle of this car——its life-like response——is rather remarkable.

Economy. Our V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gasoline than any car we have made. Mileage is partly a matter of individual driving, but under average conditions the Ford V-8 does 17 to 20 miles a gallon. Of course, car economy is not only a matter of fuel. Ford V-8 has that too, but it is also economical in the complete sense——initial cost, operation, maintenance.

Appearance. This is woman's contribution. The motor car must not only be useful, but also good-looking. View the Ford V-8 and you will not need our comment on its fine appearance.

Comfort. This also is woman's concern. In 30 years she changed the motor car from a wagon to a coach. Comfort is a quality made up of numerous ingredients. There is no comfort without a quiet, smooth-running engine. We have all the other ingredients too,——color, good taste, quality, ease, safety, roominess and convenience.

The Meanderer

Finds Dotted Swiss Popular for Cool, Demure Simplicity — Unusual Baskets—Values in Dressing Table Appointments.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

"Three Swisses" might be the title of this paragraph . . . as herein is the report on three of the most appealing summer dresses the Meanderer has seen, dresses made of beruffled dotted Swiss. The renaissance of the popularity of dotted Swiss has meant the use of this material not only in simple daytime gowns but in dinner gowns and important-occasion costumes. In the latter classification belong the "three Swisses" the Meanderer would extol. One is white-dotted brown Swiss. Another is brown-dotted white Swiss, and a third is white Swiss with red dots.

The first two have a new, distinctive, simulated sleeve arrangement of narrow ruffles picoted in the brown and white, respectively. The third has flutings of the red-dotted Swiss effectively placed over slightly wider flutings of red organdy in its shoulder effects and about the hem of the gown. The white Swiss with brown dots has a pleasing girdle of brown velvet clasped with a cluster of burnt orange cherries.

Except that the gowns fit the figure closely through the hip-line, their designs might have been taken from romantic costume periods in our history. Their frilly allure will contribute much to make the gowns of this period remembered for their romance.

Gray dotted Swiss in simple lines with the lower part of its puffed sleeves and its collar of white organdy makes an effective summer gown that a clever woman recently come from New York to Washington to live, has constructed for herself. Her approval of dotted Swiss is important, for she is an artist of note in commercial design.

A black linen suit with contrasting blouse tied in scarf fashion, like the suit worn by Joan Crawford in "Today We Live," is among the new arrivals in the third-floor salon of a big ready-to-wear shop.

Navy linen in a summer suit has its jacket front cut away generously to show its blouse of gay plaid organdy in several colors. It is among the newest summer togs from the same stock as the Joan Crawford black linen.

Quaintly made baskets, with weaving done by hand over sturdy oak ribs, fit beautifully into rooms furnished with furniture from early American periods. A three-legged needlework basket is one of the most appealing of such baskets. Its commodious round basket is lined with sprigged calico of old design. This workbasket costs just $3.95. Baskets for the garden, fitted with two or three garden tools, cost as little as $1.

Exquisite dressing table fittings of Cappi du Monte have never been so low-priced as one buyer in a discriminating department in a Washington shop has made them. Metal containers for toiletries, and sterling and Cloisonne combinations also are surprisingly low-priced at this time.

WHEN I FORGOT THE BLUE BOOK.

NO matter how sound the advice you may place in a book to guide the bidding of Contract hands, it is possible, as I recently discovered, in the stress of actual play, to forget just exactly what a bid represents when made by your partner as one of the responses to an Opening Forcing bid of two in a suit.

The above-mentioned discovery was made in an important match, my opponents being Messrs. Waldemar von Zedtwitz and Raymond Balfe. Fortunately I was permitted to read the Blue Book then and there and determine from its pages what my partner's bid had meant.

"I can see no reason," remarked Mr. von Zedtwitz, "why a man who writes a book should not be permitted to read it, just so he doesn't delay the game too much."

In this view Mr. Balfe coincided, and so the Blue Book was sent for and I read there:

"The Culbertson Four-Five No-trump Slam Convention also applies to Forcing two-bids, but with the following modifications dictated by the logic of the situation: If the Responding Hand holds at least 2½ honor-tricks (not necessarily Aces or a King) he must bid four notrump—at once if holding no Raise or bidable suit, or eventually in any event. The five notrump is used by the Responding Hand only as a response to the Opening bidder's four-notrump signal, and shows two Aces. Both the four and five-notrump bids are Forcing."

The hand in question was the following:

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ K 9 6 ♡ A 9 ◇ J 10 9 8 5 ♣ K J 6
♠ J 7 3 2 ♡ 6 5 3 2 ◇ 6 2 ♣ 10 9 4	W E S	♠ 10 8 5 ♡ J 7 4 ◇ 7 4 ♣ Q 8 5 3 2
	♠ A Q 4 ♡ K Q 10 8 ◇ A K Q 3 ♣ A 7

The bidding: (Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
2♡(1)	Pass	3◇(2)	Pass
4◇(3)	Pass	4NT(4)	Pass
7◇(5)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—I am one of a small minority of experts who prefer to make an Opening Forcing bid with this type of hand. Some prefer the Opening bid of one. Of course, the alternative of two notrump, as advocated by some theorists, is unthinkable.
2—Obviously, the correct response.
3—No occasion for hurry—once Forcing, always Forcing!
4—This was the bid I did not understand. I had forgotten whether a bid of four notrump under these conditions showed 2-plus honor-tricks or 2½ honor-tricks. If it was a minimum of 2½, then the Grand Slam probably was makable. However, there could be combinations where 2-plus honor-tricks would not mean a Grand Slam. This was the moment when I asked my kind opponents to permit me to refer to the book. Their magnanimous assent followed.
5—After reading what the Blue Book said, I did not have the slightest hesitation in making this bid.

The contract was, of course, made laid down.

This hand occurred, as I said before, in a very important match. To have made a slip here would have given my opponents an opportunity for a splendid laugh on me. If I could not follow the system which I had devised, who could?

TOMORROW'S HAND.

If South is playing a contract of three notrump and the heart suit has been cleared, leaving East with two good hearts, what card should West play on the club King from the Declarer's hand?

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ 9 6 5 2 ♡ Q 10 ◇ A ♣ A 10 9 6 5 2
♠ K Q 7 4 ♡ 5 4 ◇ 10 9 7 ♣ 6 3 ♣ Q 7	W E S	♠ 10 3 ♡ A J 9 8 7 ◇ J 5 2 ♣ J 8 2
	♠ A J 8 ♡ K 6 3 2 ◇ K Q 8 4 ♣ K 4

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

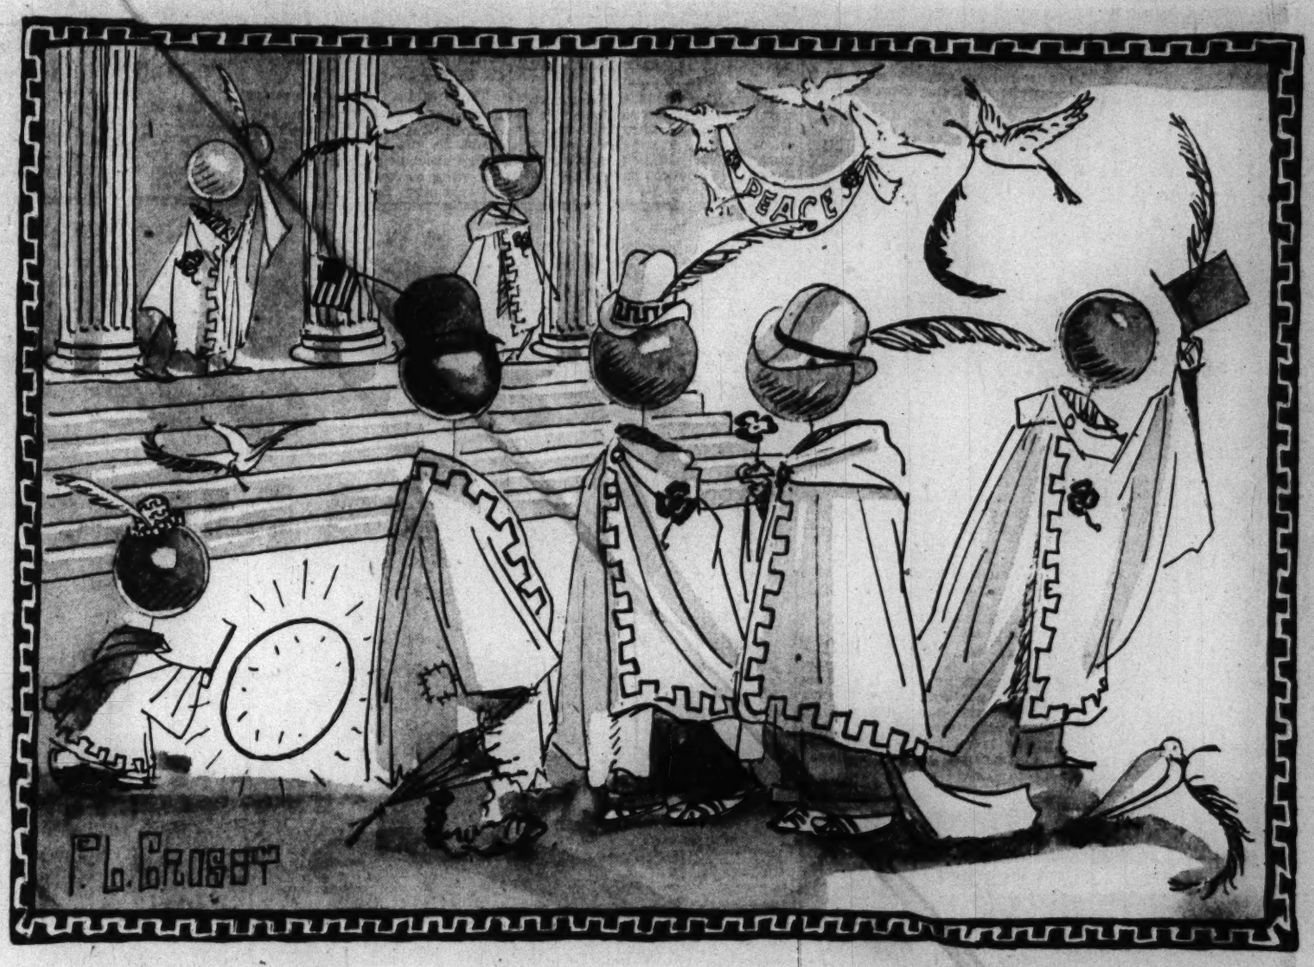
PEACE AT ANY PRICE!

A DIALOGUE . . . . . By Percy Crosby

Scene: Plaza Palaver, Washington, D. C.
Time: Year One, B. I. (Before Invasion)

Persons of the Dialogue: Pluto. Gripo. Pacificus. Plain Citizen.



Pluto: That was a master stroke—the President's peace message.

Gripo: The Ambassador at Geneva has followed up in such a way that the armed powers are at a loss. When Japan came out with a flat statement that she wanted the same naval ratio as Britain and this nation, our ambassador met them on their own ground when he retorted: "Japan shall never gain that ratio, for Americus retains the right to cut her Navy at will." The delegates evidently sensed the sincerity of the man our President picked, for they listened in amazement.

Pluto: He told them that Americus was tired of this continual arming, and the leading nation in the world would set the example by scrapping ships and weapons in order to prove that it could be done.

Gripo: I thought it was inspiring when he said that after Americus finished scrapping her weapons of warfare, the President would insist that every power follow the unprecedented example.

Plain Citizen: But, supposing after Americus scraps her Army and Navy, the other nations decide to retain theirs—where will Americus be?

Pluto: When the leaders of the great powers were over here discussing the possibility of international disarmament, our President was Mighty careful that these men gave their word of honor in the presence of a third party.

Plain Citizen: But supposing they didn't carry out what they promised at Washington?

Pluto: My dear fellow, there is such a thing as a gentleman's agreement. Besides, I happened to be the third party, and if I were called before an international tribunal, I could safely swear that representatives of armed powers gave their sacred word of honor that their nations would disarm.

Plain Citizen: But suppose the nations did not disarm?

Pluto: Our President would go down in history as a man who revealed the insincerity of armed powers.

Plain Citizen: Still, in the vernacular of the urchins, wouldn't Americus be left holding the bag?

Pluto: I fail to sense the innuendo of such phrasing.

Plain Citizen: I mean without any Army and Navy, where would Americus be?

Gripo: Pardon, Pluto, I see you are about to speak, but I shall answer the question. Americus, my friend, would be financially sound because she would not be encumbered with the tremendous cost of armaments. In a word, the money would go toward constructive industries.

Pluto: The point is well taken, Gripo.

Gripo: Thank you, Pluto. Our minds touch in the realms of the higher wisdom.

Plain Citizen: But suppose that some nation, through envy or greed, decided to invade our country. How could we stop them without an Army and a Navy?

Pluto: I fear our friend, the citizen, is inclined to go off on tangents, Gripo.

Gripo: My friend, Americus is the leading power in the commercial world. The other countries need her products.

Plain Citizen: Assuming that a superior foreign force should decide to use the products of Americus without paying for them, how could our nation, without national defense, prevent this?

Pluto: Citizen, I am exercising every vestige of restraint to control any outward sign of amusement, but if this line of argument is pursued, your ludicrous fantasy will yet invite peals of uncontrolled mirth.

Plain Citizen: It is not my aim to cause annoyance, nor to invite mirth, but I beg to remind you that we have an instance of aggression in the Far East. Japan, possessing a highly trained military machine, took over the established government of China.

Gripo: We, in this country, are not concerned with heathen methods. I invite your kind indulgence for the brief time it will involve to inform you that this is a Christian nation.

Plain Citizen: I am not unaware of your graciousness, Gripo, but is there anything, since we are open to attack, to prevent a powerful heathen nation from subjecting a Christian nation to heathen methods?

Pluto: Yonder approaches Pacificus, who is ever in touch with the Cabinet gods. He will, regardless of your illusionary fantasy, whittle your arguments to the winds.

Gripo: Hail, Pacificus!

Pacificus: What means this gathering before the tribunal gardens, under the perpendicular rays of the sun?

Pluto: Greetings, Pacificus. A citizen wishes to interrogate you in connection with the plans of our nation.

Plain Citizen: I was asking how we, as a nation, could prevent an attack from an aggressive nation, when we had nothing with which to defend ourselves?

Pacificus: The President has just had a conference with a highly recommended professor of super-analytical psychology.

Pluto: In regards to the laws, Pacificus?

Pacificus: Not exactly, but the citizen's question is most timely. The President has solved the Navy problem and he has enlisted the services of the professor to share the honors of dismissing the Army, without incurring the displeasure of that branch of the service.

Gripo: How did the President solve the naval problem?

Pacificus: The fleet has been heavily insured in case they suffer vigorous wear and tear due to the indiscreet manoeuvres of neighboring fleets.

Pluto: And no other consequences will ensue?

Pacificus: None whatever. The insurance will cover everything in such a way that the Director of the Budget will not suffer the inconvenience of making subtractions on his ledger.

Plain Citizen: How does the President intend to deal with the Army problem?

Pacificus: The professor suggests spiritual defense. He has convinced the President that an enemy can be destroyed by thought waves of a super-voltage.

Plain Citizen: But suppose an enemy pierces through these mental waves?

Pacificus: The professor has suggested that a brigade of expert sword-swallowers be held in reserve to dissolve such an attack.

Pluto: Amazing vision!

Pacificus: Moreover, the President has planned the most astounding piece of strategy.

Pluto: Ah, Pacificus is always the bearer of glad tidings.

Pacificus: Of course, due credit must be given to the professor of super-analytical psychology. The professor believes it will have a provoking effect on the enemy.

Gripo: Do tell us!

Pacificus: In the event of an attack from invaders, a regiment of ventriloquists is in readiness. It is the plan of the professor to have this regiment throw their voices in back of the invaders, thereby conveying the impression that the aggressors are being attacked from the rear.

Pluto: How devastating!

Gripo: Is there no limit to the brilliance of our professorial minds?

Pacificus: We ought to be grateful that we possess a President who is capable of absorbing the wisdom given so unsparingly.

Plain Citizen: May I ask a question?

Pacificus: If a table is heavily laden with bread, one cannot prevent the dropping of a few crumbs. You may consider the answer in the light of alms dropping from the table.

Plain Citizen: How long will the citizens have to stand for the ventriloquism of college professors, holding Administration officials on their knees?

Pacific Northwest Gains Confidence

Seattle, Wash., May 30 (A.P.).—A month of rising prices and increased employment has brought new confidence to formers and business men of the Pacific Northwest.

Lumbering, key industry of the coast area and perhaps the greatest sufferer during recent years, is showing definite improvement. Three point two beer brought back hop raising, a once profitable field almost forgotten since the advent of prohibition 13 years ago.

Advance in wheat set flour mills to humming with reemployment of 820 men in Seattle and Tacoma alone. Other farm products perked up. Live stock, dairying, shipping and rail transportation are improving.

Berlin Tightens Travel Boycott Against Austria

Berlin, May 30 (A.P.).—Germany's travel boycott of Austria was strengthened today by an announcement that effective June 1 a penalty of 5,000 marks ($1,350) will be assessed against persons who do not observe new visa rules.

ESSOLENE, NEW CAR FUEL, SELLS FRIDAY

Standard Oil Co. Spending Millions to Introduce Power Gasoline.

The introduction of the new motor fuel Essolene to the public at Esso Stations Friday is one of the major steps in a new marketing program which is involving the expenditure of several million dollars and giving employment to many workers, according to J. Z. Walker, local manager of the business of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

The program involves the reidentification of some 30,000 outlets as Esso Stations, located from Maine through Louisiana, and includes a large advertising expenditure, much of which will go to newspapers.

Concerning Essolene, Mr. Walker says: "I naturally am enthusiastic about all of our products, but in Essolene I am positive we have a highly unusual motor fuel. The tests indicate that it is the best regular priced fuel on the market. The anti-knock quality is higher than in any regular gasoline and, among other things, Essolene actually reduces gummy deposits in an old engine. We've given the slogan 'Guarantees Smoother Performance' to Essolene, and we're sure motorists will find that's so."

A red-and-white color scheme will distinguish the Esso stations. All the pumps are being repainted to conform to this plan, and new signs are being erected. All of this work gives employment to many men and, in the opinion of Mr. Walker, is an indication of his company's attitude toward the future.

Esso and Essolube, as well as Essolene, will be available at all of the Esso Stations.

Wife Seeks Help In Locating Mate

Fearing that her husband, missing from his home at 3704 Macomb street northwest for ten days, may have met with foul play, Mrs. William Keller yesterday again appealed to the newspapers for aid in locating him.

For two years Mr. Keller, who is 33, had been working on a patent for a sanitary cover for a meat cutting machine. The night before his disappearance he went out with the model and came back without it. The next morning Mrs. Keller took her two little girls, Margaret, 10, and Eleanor, 8, to church. When they returned Mr. Keller had set the table and made coffee, but was not in the house. She has not heard from him since.

Mr. Keller had a good job, with an excellent salary, and had no worries, Mrs. Keller said. Some time on the morning of his disappearance a man resembling him was seen wringing his hands in front of a bakery near their home. The missing man is 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighed about 150 pounds, Mrs. Keller said. He had hazel eyes, a mole on his face, and a scar over one eye.

Only the STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW JERSEY dares challenge with a new Motor Fuel that Guarantees SMOOTHER PERFORMANCE

IN ANNOUNCING ESSOLENE, which will be on sale June 2nd, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey makes the above guarantee with a full understanding of the importance of such a statement by this company • The public is accustomed to fantastic and exaggerated claims in gasoline advertising. It has heard of so many "Super" gasolines—seen so many words piled upon words about "anti-knock" properties, "mileage," "quick-starting," etc., that all such descriptions have, quite properly, come to mean nothing • As leader of the industry for more than half a century, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey recognizes a double responsibility to the public • First, the responsibility to pioneer in improvements and new developments—no matter how great the expense • Second, never to lend its name to a product until that product has proved its worth, and the validity of every statement made about it • Such is the position we take about Essolene. We stand squarely behind it as a great motor fuel improvement • Automobile engines have improved rapidly in the last few years. Gasoline improvement has not kept pace. Essolene was developed in the Standard Oil Research Laboratories with present motor problems and future motor trends in mind. The result is a fuel in advance of the times, basically superior to all regular priced and, with few exceptions, all premium priced gasolines • Try Essolene on June 2nd. Compare it on any car, with the performance of any gasoline you have ever used. Essolene will speak for itself. You can supply the superlatives.

Colored Orange to Prevent Substitution

• Essolene, Esso and Essolube—the 5-Star Motor Oil, are sold at Esso Stations and Dealers owned, operated or supplied by the following companies: the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania, the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, and the Colonial Beacon Oil Company, Incorporated.

Stormy Scenes at the Plate as Umpire Owens Stands Ground Against Nats' Protest of Gehrig's Home Run

Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

GRIFFITH'S PROTEST OF YANKEE VICTORY SEEN HOPELESS

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

IT was not surprising that Umpire Brick Owens politely but firmly refused to alter his decision that created a home run for Lou Gehrig on the foul ball that he slammed over the right field fence to beat the Nats yesterday.

From the time that Earl Whitehill rushed in to explode his wrath in the masked face of Owens, at the first intimation that Owens had actually called the ball fair, the Nats were arguing a losing cause.

When an umpire changes a decision it's history, especially at a tense moment like yesterday's and you could write your own ticket that Owens' verdict on the ball had gone into the books forever. Any reversal of his decision would have cost him his peace for the remainder of his life, as a big league umpire. Right or wrong, a reversal was unthinkable and Brick was simply upholding umpiratical tradition.

Owens' decision must have been horrible, for even Ossie Bluege, who hasn't uttered both a subject and a predicate in his twelve years, set a new all-time record for free speech. He actually stuck his hands in his hip pockets and stuck his chin in Owens' face to deliver a few bombastic opinions concerning the umpire's eyesight.

If Earl Whitehill got a raw deal on Gehrig's homer, and I'm not saying he did, he asked for it as early as the second inning when he began beefing about Owens' decisions on balls and strikes.

Trainer Mike Martin has been put out of the game twice in his big league career of 30 years and Brick Owens has been the man to toss him out both times. Yesterday's ouster was just for old times sake.

$5,000 Race Annexed by Larranaga

By WALTER HAIGHT.

TWENTY THOUSAND crowded nearby Bowie yesterday, took a drenching on the way in and took a drenching on the way out, and saw Larranaga win the $5,000 Decoration Day Handicap, for which purpose the Anall Stable shipped him down from Belmont Park the other day. It was a head decision in as thrilling a finish as has marked a stake race hereabouts, with Osculator the loser in the last jump for the finish line. Another half length behind came Indian Runner, the glorified selling plater that many were trying to make take the big end of the money.

It was an outstanding program and an outstanding crowd. The rain left the track cozy with mud and the boys and girls were searching the racing papers for superior mudders throughout the day.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie lent an official air to the card and witnessed the running of the feature from the judges' stand. He saw a hoss race.

Osculator Takes Lead.

There was more than a 10-minute delay at the post with first Osculator and then Action being the chief troublemakers. Finally, Starter Milton ordered Action to the outside, Equipoise's favorite position. When the barrier was sprung, Osculator hurtled to the front, followed by Clotho, Watch Him and the others.

Banking the clubhouse turn, the white polka dots on the green of the Coe Stable were winging in front as Osculator, with Bejshak in the saddle, opened two lengths of daylight on Clotho. Rehoboth was running close by and Indian Runner and Watch Him were well up. Larranaga and Action were just finding their legs in the rear of the field.

On the back stretch, Osculator continued to bounce over the sloppy course. Clotho was still second. Kurtsinger was now rushing Larranaga up on the outside.

Action Makes Bid.

At the far turn, it was evident that the race lay between the fast-coming Larranaga and the swift pace-setting Osculator. Action was moving up with

Allison Wins Orange Net Finals

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., May 30 (A.P.).—Wilmer Allison's long experience on the tennis courts of the world stood him in good stead today as he defeated the younger Lester Stoefen, of Los Angeles, in a brilliant five-set finale of the ninth annual Orange lawn Tennis Club Invitation Tournament.

Changing pace in masterful fashion and outguessing the 22-year-old giant, who rose from almost nowhere to a national ranking of sixth last year, Allison, playing captain of the United States Davis Cup team from Austin, Tex., won by scores of 6—3, 13—11, 1—6, 2—6, 6—3.

Jones Also Has Leg On Cup.

The victor joined David N. Jones, former Columbia star who now is studying in England, in holding a leg on the second Thomas H. Gillespie trophy. John H. Doeg, former national champion, retired the first Gillespie trophy in 1931.

Allison started today's match—played part of the time in light rain before a gallery of 1,500—as though he would make short work of his rival.

The second set was one of the most sensational ever witnessed in this fashionable tournament. Each won his own service through the first fourteen games. Then Stoefen dropped his service game to Allison in what appeared to be the climax of the duel. But he tied the count at 8—8 by winning Allison's service game and the set seesawed again until the twenty-third game, when the Davis Cup star again solved Stoefen's powerhouse drives, in a love game. He won his own in another love game for the 13-11 set.

Apparently trying to conserve his strength, Allison eased up in the third set and Stoefen played a more slashing game to win in double-quick time. In the fourth, Stoefen also was far superior as his terrific service drives began to function better and he recorded two love games and twice registered four aces in a row.

But it was the crafty Allison, driving shots past Stoefen when he rushed the net and dropping them along the sidelines after drawing his opponent out of position, who was in complete command in the deciding set.

Gehrig's Drive, Ruled Fair, Beats Nats, 3-2, in Duel bodily into a conference with Owens. But Van Grafian refused to budge.

Owens stood his ground for 15 minutes under the verbal abuse of Cronin, Pitcher Earl Whitehill, Catcher Luke Sewell and other Nats and upheld the umpiratical tradition of never losing an argument to a ball player

But late last evening, Owner Clark Griffith of the Nats believed that he had found grounds upon which to protest to Will Harridge, American League president. He dispatched a telegram to Harridge notifying him of the Nats' protest on the basis of Owens' refusal to consult with Umpire Roy Van Grafian at first base on the legality of Gehrig's blow despite the entreaties of Manager Cronin that Van Grafian's opinion on the ball be ascertained.

The boys were supposed to play a double-header yesterday, but the rain, which had delayed the first game a full hour, continued through the late innings and washed out the attempt to play the second.

Puts Yanks in Lead.

The secore was tied at 1-1 when Gehrig socked Owens' home run off one of Whitehill's fast pitches in the eighth, putting the Yanks in a 2-1 lead. Whitehill had been baiting Owens from the outset on his decisions on balls and strikes and when Owens called Gehrig's clout fair, the pitcher rushed up to the umpire and berated him for a full minute before Cronin shoved him away and took up the argument with Owens himself.

Nats and Yankees gathered about the plate. The first pop bottle sailed from the upper stands in close proximity to the ear of Tony Lazzeri. Al Thomas rushed in from the bull pen in right field to give his testimony on the blow. Bill McAfee also started from the bull pen, but was intercepted by Umpire Van Grafian.

Whitehill Becomes Angered.

Whitehill was still hanging about the fringe of the crowd gathered around Owens at the plate. Somebody ordered him to the bench. On his way he picked up Owens' tiny whisk broom and heaved it over the right field stands in a fit of temper that luckily Owens didn't see. It was thought that Whitehill, one of the chief figures in the Battle of Griffith Stadium on April 25, had been ordered from the game.

Despite the Nats' vigorous protests, Owens was adamant. The Nats reluctantly took their places in the field and Whitehill, apparently reprieved, went back to the pitching mound.

A moment later, Owens took exception to the noise emanating from the Nats' dugout. He walked to the Washington bench and ousted Trainer Mike Martin. Two pop bottles fell at Owens' feet and three cops appeared like magic. There were no more bottles, and presently the game continued.

Stalls, Hoping Game Is Called.

It was still raining, and Whitehill proceeded to stall for time in the hope that the game would be called and the Yanks' lead wiped out. He did a beautiful job of stalling after Chapman reached base with a single. He threw to first four times in a ludicrous effort to pick Chapman off the bag, even after Chapman had become wise to his stalling tactics and refused to budge an inch off the sack.

Lazzeri also singled, and Whitehill continued to stall, throwing to first time after time without a chance of picking Lazzeri off. But Owens refused to call the game despite the whipping rain, and Whitehill finally retired the side on a double play started and finished by Joe Kuhel.

Russell Van Atta, the New York rookie who was the hero of the 16-0 riot game here on April 25, was again pitching for the Yankees and the Nats came back in their half of the eighth to tie the score.

Tying Run Scored By Kuhel.

Joe Kuhel drilled a single through the box, went to second on Manush's sacrifice, and with two out Joe Cronin scored him with the tying run on a single to right field, but came the ninth and the winning run for the Yankees.

Whitehill, who had been holding the Yanks to seven hits but was in frequent trouble through passes, led off the ninth by walking Crosetti, and Van Atta sacrificed him to second. Earl Combs delivered the winning hit, a single that bounced over Whitehill's head to score Crosetti.

There was still a kick left in the ball game. Luke Sewell whacked a double to right field with two out in the ninth and Fred Schulte took his bat and broken finger to the plate to pinch hit for Whitehill. Van Atta got him on a foul to Joe Sewell and there was no more.

The Yanks had scored in the first inning when Earl Combs launched the game with a triple to center and scored after the catch of Chapman's fly. Cronin, who tied the score in the eighth, tied it for the first time in the fifth when he followed Manush's looping single to center with a smart triple to the left field wall.

Grove Is Hero As Red Sox Lose Two

BOSTON, May 30 (A.P.).—Bob "Lefty" Grove twice came to the rescue of wilting Philadelphia Athletic pitchers in a double-header with the Boston Red Sox today, and, as a result, the A's won, 7 to 3, and 11 to 8.

Grove received credit for the victory in the first game only. The nightcap went to twelve innings, and the latter part was played in the rain.

In the opener Grove relieved "Sugar" Cain in the sixth after one run was across, one out and men on first and third. Pipgras hit into a double play, retiring the side. Grove then held the Red Hose scoreless, allowing two scattered hits.

Come From Behind Twice.

In the nightcap the A's came from behind twice to tie. In the seventh Coleman's homer knotted the game at five all, and in the ninth Cramer's four-base clout put the tilt at six

No Appeal From Decision On Batted Ball Permitted; Clubs Play 2 Games Today

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

YESTERDAY'S game with the Yankees has been protested by the Nationals, President Clark Griffith announced last night. He has asked League President Will Harridge whether he wants games won on merit or because one umpire gets stubborn, sticks to his decision whether right or wrong, and will not ask the advice of one of the other arbiters assigned to aid him.

Sixteen thousand fans saw Lou Gehrig loft one over the right-field wall in the eighth inning yesterday and Owens seemed to be the only one in the park who thought the ball was fair.

Not making any progress in their argument with Owens, Manager Cronin and his Nats asked that Umpire Roy Van Grafian's opinion be asked. The latter was standing on the foul-line back of first and was in a better position to see the ball as it cleared the fence than was Owens, but the latter declined to ask Van and it is because of this refusal to try to confirm his verdict that the Nats are protesting.

But, while the Nationals can not be blamed for protesting the decision, baseball rules give them little hope of being upheld by President Harridge. Rule 56 reads, in part: "There shall be no appeal from any decision of either umpire on the ground that he was not correct in his conclusion as to whether a batted ball was fair or foul * * *. Under no circumstances shall either umpire criticise or interfere with a decision unless asked to do so by an associate."

Inasmuch as Griffith is basing his

ENGLAND IS AGOG OVER 150TH RUNNING OF DERBY TODAY

Manitoba 6-1 Favorite To Win Event

Three Horses Owned by Americans to See Action.

EPSOM DOWNS, England, May 30 (A.P.).—International problems were sidetracked today as all England, royalty and cockney alike, pored over past performances and listened to a multitude of "tips" in an effort to select the winner of the classic Derby, which will have its 150th running over the picturesque Epsom Downs tomorrow.

Twenty-four thoroughbreds, three of them American-owned, were ready for the 1½-mile test. A quarter of a million fans either were here or on their way. Post time is about 3 p. m. (9 a. m. Eastern standard time).

If the weather remains fair, and there was every indication it would, the king and queen, the Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family will motor from Buckingham Palace. Weather will not make any difference to the remainder of the crowd.

Manitoba Favorite At 6 to 1.

The chief concern of all Britain tonight was whether the favorite, Manitoba, owned by Lord Woolavington and ridden by the country's leading jockey, Gordon Richards, will justify his short odds of 6 to 1 in the pre-race betting. Lord Woolavington's silks have been carried to victory twice—in 1922 by Captain Cuttle and again in 1926 by Coromach.

There have been several last-minute flurries, the biggest of which was caused by the scratching of the French challenger, Rodosto, winner of 2,000 guineas. J. A. Dewar also scratched Lochiel, leaving Steve Donoghue without a mount for a few hours. The veteran jockey, six times winner of the classic, was not long in finding a horse, however. He will ride Threapston, a member of Lord Derby's second string, quoted at 50 to 1.

Lord Derby's chief hope is Hyperion, the second choice, at 21 to 2, which will be ridden by Tommy Weston. The famous English soportsman, whose ancestors founded the event in 1780, last won the race with Sansovino in 1924.

American-Owned Horses Regarded Lightly.

The three American-owned horses are not given much consideration, but if tomorrow's race runs true to the majority of other renewals, a long shot will be out in front when the field dashes across the finish line in front of the royal box.

Victor Emanuel's Statesman had many supporters, especially among the American visitors, at the odds of 16 to 1. John McCormack's Franz Hals, an Irish-bred runner, was quoted at 45 to 1. Myosotis, owned by W. M. G. Singer, retired New York business man living in England, was even more lightly considered, at 50 to 1.

Big money rallied yesterday to the support of Young Lover, the third choice at 100 to 9, King Salmon at 100 to 8 and Scarlet Tiger at 13 to 1.

King George, who will not have a representative in the Derby, was at Epsom today and saw his horse, Fox Earth, run second to Brown Jack, in the Roseberry Memorial Plate.

FABULOUS, quick to begin and showing good ability in the footing, shook off IF IDA when leaving the back stretch, was placed to severe pressure and willingly withstood stout contention from FLAG BOY. Latter, rushed up to the winner, secured racing room on the inside and fought it out stubbornly all during the final half mile. IF IDA, prominent throughout, was under severe urging at the end to stall off SCOTCH PEPPER. Latter raced stoutly in the last half mile while losing ground. DONEE raced greenly. HONEYSWEET was outrun. BREADCRUMB did not favor the footing.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HACKY H., $6.00, $3.80, $3.40; DANCING MACK, $5.80, $5.00; CHILO BOY, $5.00.

HACKY H., going in the thick of contention from the beginning, were PRINCE WICK down midway of the turn, moved clear when straightened into the home stretch, but was forced to a stiff drive nearing the finish to stall off DANCING MACK. Latter worked his way up on the outside in the closing three furlongs, then closed fast and would have been winner in a few more strides. CHILO BOY went forwardly placed, but was not good enough for the first two. REDIVIVUS finished resolutely after being slow to get going. PRINCE WICK saved ground in the last stages, but tired fast. CAPRICIOUS was unable to reach the leaders. LITTLE WING was outrun.

THIRD RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:53½. Off at 3:54½. Wonner, J. TUFFY G., going along on his own courage until well settled in his stride, worked his way up to the leaders on the inside, moved to the front with a rush when entering the home stretch and was strongly restrained when reaching the finish. SQUEEZE PLAY, steadied in front, but forced to stall off repeated early bids, held on well to outstay FLUFFY LEE. Latter, favored by improved handling and a keen factor, held on well in the final drive. HIS WAY was unable to improve his position at any stage. FAIRDALE was never a factor. DARK AYRE was outrun. BIDE A WEE flattened out badly when put to a drive.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:25. Off at 4:26½. Winner, S. DAMASCENE, taken under steadying restraint while following ERA, went to the front when ready and, kept out in the safer footing during the final drive, drew clear and had much speed in reserve at the end. FAIR BILL dropped back after rounding the first turn, responded when called on and closed full of run. TAZEWELL worked his way up to the leaders gradually, but hung after moving up stoutly at the far turn. ROYAL DURBAR raced stoutly all the way. GARLIC was unable to threaten the leaders. ERA had good early speed, but went lame and fell back rapidly.

LARRANAGA, slower than usual to settle in his stride, went to the outside when straightened away on the back stretch, reached the leaders with excellent speed, responded stoutly to punishment and in a game finish, was up in the last sixteenth mile. OSCULATOR, hurried to the front, raced under mild urging while resisting CLOTHO in the first six furlongs, saved ground where possible and fought it out stoutly under severe punishment. INDIAN RUNNER, in tight quarters during the early running, secured clear passage on the inside in the last half mile and closed full of run. TRED AVON raced with the leaders stoutly and continued strongly to the end. ACTION was outrun to the first turn and was unable to better her position when put to a drive. REHOBOTH tired, as did WATCH HIM.

Latter, going in suddenly improved form, drew clear at the first turn, shook off MING SUN and SYRIAC and came again after relinquishing the lead at the stretch turn. BUB M'FARLAND improved his position while saving ground, and outfinished SYRIAC. Latter went close up with the leaders, but weakened when the real issue came. Ritchie Sees Larranaga Triumph

Osculator Second by Head; 20,000 See Thrilling Battle.

Larranaga. In the stretch, Bejshak went to the whip on the tiring Osculator and Larranaga came rushing up.

In the stretch, the expected rush of Tred Avon failed to materialize, leaving the battle between Larranaga, Osculator and Indian Runner, which had moved up in the drive. Slowly but surely Larranaga cut down Osculator. He caught the Coe horse at the end of the mutuel board and bounced in front. Indian Runner slid upon the pair, but too late to clinch second money. Tred Avon was fifth behind Action.

Larranaga, which won the $50,000 Cuban Derby last winter, was only so-so with the betters and paid a $16.20 mutuel.

Fabulous in Lead All Way.

Fabulous, a good looking son of Trojan who stable boys will tell you eats mud, led from start to finish in the opening race, the usual 5-furlong dash for 2-year-olds. But Fabulous had his troubles winning from Flag Boy, a persistent little thing that came up in the stretch to miss the decision by a neck margin. If Ida, the favorite, was third. The winner broke the spell of choices which swept the card the day before and the pay-off was at $9.20.

Hacky H finally won a race. After the long drought, the veteran came splashing home ahead of the field that sought the purse in the second, a dash of six furlongs. Hacky H rushed up to challenge Prince Wick for the pace-setting honors, raced that one into submission and then went on to withstand the driving finish of Dancing Mack. Chilo Boy accounted for the third money. Hacky H ended up the favorite and paid a $6 mutuel.

Tuffy G accounted for the winning end of the purse in the third race, with Squeeze Play second and Fluffy Lee third. Squeeze Play led until the turn for home, where Tuffy G cut the rail to come out on top and coast to the wire

Fluffy Lee chased the pace most of the way. There was a variety of tips on the race with the result that Tuffy G paid a $13.80 mutuel.

Damascene, from the Labrot holdings, scored an easy victory in the fourth race, taking the decision by a margin of a length and a half over Fair Bill which nosed out Tazewell for the place. Era set the early pace and Damascene took it up when that one quit, never to be threatened thereafter. Damascene was another favorite and paid $5.20.

Unencumbered won the sixth race by a half length from Home Work and Ladino. The last named was the favorite. Unencumbered paid $18.80 in the mutuels.

Zembla took the finale in a rousing finish with Plutarch and Bub McFarland.

RAIN FAILS TO STOP GOLFERS IN HOLIDAY EVENTS

Beaver Dam's Cup Won by Dentson

Shea Shows the Way in Congressional Tourney.

By DAVE HERMAN.

RAIN that fell intermittently failed to dampen the ardor of Washington's golfing army yesterday, and scheduled Memorial Day events and tournaments were conducted at all but three of the District clubs.

Over the water-logged Beaver Dam course, a field of 75 golfers trudged in quest of honors in the President's Cup. Late in the evening B. E. Dentson turned up with an 83 for the 18 holes. He had a 14 handicap, and his 69 net won him the championship.

In the handicap tournament, in which four flights of golfers participated, John R. Millea, Martin F. McCarthy and K. J. Hale tied for top honors with 70 each. Jess P. Baggett was runner-up, with 72.

Dentson's 69 Wins Second Flight.

B. E. Dentson's 69 won him the second flight, and H. R. Devilbiss was next, with 70. In the third flight, G. A. Ford was first, with 70; R. E. Kelly, next, with 71. H. G. Gibson, with 74, won the fourth division, and T. E. Bourne was runner-up, with 75.

apiece. Each team scored two runs in the eleventh.

Brown pitched the twelfth inning for the Sox after a pinch hitter had batted for Rhodes in the eleventh. Brown was wild and three walks with singles by Bishop and Claset accounted for the winning tallies.

Earnshaw started for the A's, but was relieved by Peterson in the fourth. Grove took up the burden in the ninth, and, after pitching two scoreless innings, was relieved by Claset, who received credit for the game.

Called on 7 Times In 9 Games.

It was the seventh time in the last nine games played by the A's that Grove had been called upon in his new role of relief pitcher.

Shikat and Dusek Bout Divides Fans

Ernie Dusek's match with the old maestro, Dick Shikat, to be committed tomorrow night at the ball park, provided the infield is navigable, has divided local wrestling fandom into two camps, and both are positive in their assertions that their respective favorite will cop the fatback. Joe Turner thinks either may be correct.

Turner gave an exclusive interview on the matter yesterday, talking over 4,567 yards of telephone wire. In the mind of the former middleweight champion, there isn't the slightest doubt concerning young Dusek's ability. Joe thinks he's got the stuff and he should know.

"Ernie's greatest trouble is his hotheadedness," he said. "If he can keep a cool head he stands a good chance of throwing Shikat."

Turner admits that much of Dusek's temperament is merely an exaggerated form of showmanship, but underneath the crust is the genuine article. Dusek tossed Ray Steele, who previously had thrown Shikat. Both Steel and the Dutchman are greatly respected by Londos.

Once Dusek loses his head against Shikat, according to Turner, it's all over. Shikat knows every trick of the trade, and nothing is easier for him than sitting on the chest of a nettled opponent.

Hans Steinke and Leo Pinetzki will stage a battle of giants in the semi-final. Three preliminaries are on the program. Ladies will be admitted free if accompanied by paying escorts.

NATS AND YANKEES IN DOUBLE-HEADER

protest on the fact that Owens refused to bring Van Grafian into consultation, and in view of no rule compelling one umpire to consult with another, the Nats' chances of being upheld appear to be nil.

Manager Cronin was still "burning up" when interviewed late last night. "It's the worst decision I have ever seen," he said. "Mr. Harridge has warned the players to do nothing which might start riots, yet Owens, a league employe, almost started one by his action yesterday. Missing an occasional ball or strike is not bad, and is only to be expected, but there is no excuse for him missing one like that foul of Gehrig's. It was a dark day and he probably lost sight of the ball; in fact, he must have to have called it fair. But whether he was right or wrong—and he could not possibly have been right in this case, as all of us saw it—he should have been fair minded enough to have consulted Van Grafian. By his very refusal, he almost started one of those uprisings of the fans which we have been warned to avoid.

"Why, even the Yankees' players were rolling over on the bench laughing at the decision, they thought it was so funny. And Catcher Luke Sewell, standing right on the plate and following the ball, nearly fainted when Owens said it was fair. How he missed it, I don't know, because it did not curve any and was foul from the moment it left Gehrig's bat."

One of the best decisions made by the umpires yesterday was the postponement of the second game scheduled. Rain was falling steadily, darkness was sure to prevent more than four or five innings and, had Umpire Roy Van Grafian permitted the teams to have started, he should have had his head examined by Dr. White, the famous psychiatrist. At that, it took Van 37 minutes to make up his mind.

As a result of this postponement, a double-header has been listed for this afternoon, starting at 1:30. Herb Pennock, veteran southpaw, probably will face "General" Al Crowder in the opener, with "Prof." Monte Weaver due to toil for the Nats in the nightcap against either Danny MacFayden or Charley (Red) Ruffing.

There is a possibility that Fred Schulte will be back in the Nats' outfield today. Much of the soreness has left his injured finger. He has had little chance to do any hitting, though.

According to Chattanooga papers, the Nats are soon to return Cecil Travis to the Lookouts. Manager Joe Cronin, however, denies this. "Until Bluege is back again and in normal shape, I'm going to keep Cecil right here," he said, adding that he has been working with the youngster and thinks that he has shown considerable improvement afield in practice.

But Travis needs to be worked regularly and the chances are that he will be returned to Chattanooga just as soon as he can be spared. He would go on 24-hour option so that he could be snatched back here quickly if needed.

Pitcher Earl Whitehill and Umpire Brick Owens were doing an unusual lot of jawing and finger shaking at each other soon after play started and kept it up until the finish.

Whitehill made a fine play to end the first, coming in fast for Lazerri's topped one and getting the batter at first by a whisker. Joe Sewell was scoring another Yankee run at the time.

The fans were in a booing mood yesterday. They gave the Yanks the raspberry when they first showed up on the field and were particularly tough on Chapman, who has succeeded Bill Dickey as Public Enemy Number 1.

When Combs scored in the first, it was the 247th successive game in which the Yankees had dodged a shutout.

Myer's upset tummy began acting up again in the second inning and Bluege, although still far from right, hit for him and then continued in the game. He went to third and Bob Boken was shifted to second.

Kuhel went over to the foul-line back of first to rob Ruth of a hit in the third. Whitehill hustling to first to take the peg.

Manush bounced off the stands in left-center after robbing Chapman of a hit in the fourth.

Kuhel tried to make Dickey think he had missed Boken's high throw on the Yankee catcher's hit in the fourth, but the latter did not fall for the trick and went on back to first instead of continuing on to second, as was hoped.

Skipper Cronin stopped play in the ninth to get Whitehill a dry resin bag, but it did not seem to do the southpaw any good.

Auto Classic To Meyer As 3 Die

Record Is Eclipsed in $12,000 Race at Indianapolis.

forced out when his car cracked into the wall, with Frame and his mechanic luckily escaping injury.

Meyer, the son of an old bicycle racer, snatched the lead after traveling 300 miles and never relinquished it, although challenged by Wilbur Shaw, of Indianapolis, who finished second, 7 miles back of the winner; Chet Gardner, of Long Beach, Calif., third, with Lou Moore of Los Angeles, fourth. Nineteen of the original 42 starters finished. Meyer coasted to victory in the last 25 miles, reducing his speed to save gasoline and to avoid the danger of an accident.

Meyer, begrimed after his five-hour ride, and his mechanic, Lawson Harrison, of Indianapolis, were almost crushed in the jam as they wheeled their racer into the infield after completing their perilous ride. Meyer did not know of the deaths of Billman and Jordan until the race had been finished. He was profoundly sympathetic and crushed.

Meyer intends to quit racing for the year and go back to his home in Huntington Park, Calif., with the $12,000 he won as first prize.

From the start the race was a see-saw affair, with Wild Bill Cummings first assuming the lead, then giving way to Frame with Babe Stapp, of Los Angeles, finally assuming command and then Meyer going to the front.

Besides bagging $12,000 as first prize money, Meyer earned $1,500 as lap prize money with Stapp getting $1,000, Cummings $500 and Frame $400. Meyer also will receive a major share of the $17,800 in money offered by automobile accessory firms.

Pirates and Cubs Split Double Bill

Pittsburgh, May 30 (A.P.).—Bill Jurges swung the big stick for the Chicago Cubs this afternoon, leading them to a 6-to-2 victory over the Pirates after Pittsburgh downed the visitors, 2 to 1, in a morning encounter.

The morning game was a pitchers' duel between Swift and Grimes, which was broken up by Paul Waner's homer in the eighth inning. Swift allowed but six hits, half of which were made by Demaree.

Giants and Dodgers Both Win and Lose

New York, May 30 (A.P.).—Airtight pitching and home runs enabled the Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers to divide their holiday bill today. The Giants won the first game, 2-1 when Byrne James hit the first ball pitched by Van Mungo in the ninth for a home run and the Dodgers took the nightcap on Tony Cuccinello's homer with one on in the sixth.

Cucinello also hit a homer for the only Brooklyn run in the opener as Hal Schumacher and Dolf Luque held the Dodgers to four hits against five off Mungo. Manager Bill Terry's circuit blow as a pinch hitter in the eighth tied the score and gave the decision to Luque.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE proposed flight of the Piccard balloon to the stratosphere above Chicago on or about July 1 will carry the microphone to an altitude never before achieved. It would seem but a simple problem to install a radio transmitter in the gondola and transmit back to the ground, but it is not so simple.

"A maximum of 100 pounds is all that can be permitted for the radio transmitter and receiving apparatus and their power supply," said O. B. Hanson, radio engineer.

"These limitations force us to use the high frequencies of the short-wave band. In this case a frequency on the order of 17,300 kilocycles has been selected to carry the voices from the gondola.

"A receiver must be provided in the gondola to enable the observers to keep in touch with the ground crew, and this radio link from the earth to the gondola will be conducted on a frequency of approximately 6,100 kilocycles.

"Inasmuch as the flight may have a duration of as long as 24 hours, arrangements must be made in advance to clear the networks for spot broadcasting from the balloon during the flight.

"The three most important periods during the flight will be the take-off, the point of maximum altitude, and the return to earth. The exact time of these occurrences is problematical, which will keep the engineering staff constantly under tension awaiting these high spots."

HOWARD BARLOW had always used a score in his broadcasts and had never paid much attention to the possibility of memorizing his symphonies. Last Thursday, however, a friend happened to ask Barlow why he never conducted from memory. The Columbia conductor was taken off his guard; he replied he had never even considered it. But that same evening he walked into rehearsal without a score and without any previous preparation, apologized to his men for the countless mistakes he thought he was about to make, and then directed the entire Tschaikowsky Sixth Symphony without a single error.

No one was more astonished than Barlow himself; he found that his memory pictured the score perfectly—even to the smudges and thumbprints on his own copy.

As was foretold in these columns Barlow, along with Hans Kindler, of the National Symphony Orchestra, was among those honored as guest conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra for the summer series.

A familiar voice came over the radio the night the Chicago Exposition was opened when Dr. Allen D. Albert, former Washingtonian, was heard. Dr. Albert is assistant to Rufus Dawes, chairman of the exposition, and at one time was president of the International Rotary Clubs.

Tony Sarg, the master of marionettes, will head a special program for children from the Enchanted Island, Chicago Exposition, at 3:45 p. m., over WMAL.

"ONE Man's Family" already has created a widespread interest among radio listeners which, oddly enough, seems to be about equally shared by young people and their elders.

All of the characters are portrayed by experienced and capable actors, among whom is Kathleen Wilson, in the role of Claudia, one of the twins. Miss Wilson, 22-year-old daughter of Ben F Wilson, writer and lecturer of Berkeley, Calif., has studied and traveled extensively in Europe, and had considerable stage experience on the Coast before going into radio.

"One Man's Family" will again be heard over WRC tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

The All-Star After-Dinner Club program, to be heard over WJSV Wednesday at 9:30 p. m., will feature an arrangement of "The Song Is You," played by Schramm's Orchestra and sung by Marguerite Cromwell and James Wilkinson.

The program will also offer "Young and Healthy" by the orchestra, a solo "Without a Song," by Mr. Wilkinson, and "Lover," a waltz sung by Miss Cromwell. Bob Trout will be master of ceremonies and, as usual, will have some difficulty with his engineer, Clyde Hunt.

America will hear the 150th running of the English Derby at Epsom Downs this morning over WRC at 8:30 o'clock, when a description of the famous contest is short-waved across the Atlantic.

A "STAR-A-MINUTE" will mark the second anniversary of Bob Taplinger's "Meet the Artist" program over WJSV at 4:45 p. m.

Two orchestras will provide the music for the occasion—a dance band under the direction of Fred Berrens and a concert group conducted by Emery Deutsch.

Among the luminaries who will participate are Kate Smith, Nino Martini, Little Jack Little, Fred Waring, George Hall, Charles Carlile, Fray and Braggiotti, Frank Crumit and Julia Senderson, Elsie Hitz, Mary Eastman, the Boswell Sisters, Ann Leaf, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Ted Lewis, Ted Husing, Tommy McLaughlin, Burns and Allen, Will Osborne, Ozzie Nelson, Tito Guizar, Jack Benny and Mary Livingstone, the Funnyboners, Eddie Duchin and others.

An attempt will be made to pick up Morton Downey aboard the S. S. Europa. Guy Lombardo's Royal Canadians and Burns and Allen will be heard from the exposition in Chicago.

Col. Louis McHenry Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt, who will appear in a series of weekly broadcasts, beginning Sunday, will make an introductory appearance before the microphone this afternoon at 2 o'clock over WRC during the R. C. A.-Victor national dealer meeting program.

Radio dealers in every section of the country will be among the listeners to this program, which will include an address by E. T. Cunningham, president of the company.

Ready readers await the offers in Post Classified Ads, the first thing in the morning.

"CAP" STUBBS — He Can't Help It!

By Edwina

I'M GLAD TO SEE MY LI'L BOY LOOKIN' SO CHEERFUL'N HAPPY TO-DAY.
NO MATTER HOW DARK THINGS IS, IT'S BETTER TO FACE IT WITH A SMILE—
MY LAND! WELL, THERE'S NO NEED HAW-HAWING AN' GUFFAWIN' LIKE A FOOL—
WELL, I JUST BEEN THINKIN' HOW FUNNY SAMMY LOOKED WHEN HIS FOOT SLIPPED ON SOME MOSS WHEN HE WUZ WALKIN' CROSS TH' STEPPIN' STONES DOWN AT TH' CREEK, AN' HE LANDED SMACK—IN TH'— WATER!!
MY LAND!

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER — See the Winkle Family in colors in The Sunday Post.

Lost and Found and How!

ON HER WAY TO TURN LITTLE LOST MARY OVER TO THE POLICE, WINNIE'S CHARGE DARTED INTO A DILAPIDATED TENEMENT HOUSE AND RUSHED INTO HER MOTHER'S ARMS. WINNIE HASN'T SEEN THE BABY'S FOLKS YET.
IT LOOKS AS IF MARY'S REALLY FOUND HER FOLKS, BUT I'LL HAVE TO GO IN AND MAKE SURE!!
MAY 31
KNOCK! KNOCK!
I GUESS MARY'S FAMILY ARE POOR PEOPLE, JUDGING FROM THE LOOKS OF THIS HOUSE!
PARDON ME, —ER—I JUST WANTED TO MAKE SURE—
WHY PATSY DUGAN MULLIGAN! AND MIKE!!
WINNIE!!! TO THINK OF YOU FINDIN' OUR MARY!!
WINNIE WINKLE!
OH, I'M SO GLAD I FOUND YOU BOTH!
GEE WHIZ, WINNIE—AM I GLAD TO SEE YA!!
TO THINK THAT OUR LITTLE MARY BRINGS US ALL TOGETHER AGAIN!

"GEMINI."

IF May 31 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:50 a. m. to 8:20 a. m., from 2:40 p. m. to 3:40 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:25 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:50 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 4:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

The child born on this May 31 will not prove to be the most tractable of little ones. He will not learn readily in school, but will acquire a vast fund of information and knowledge from outside sources. Will probably like to dance and should respond readily to music.

If May 31 is the date of your birth, you probably have a keen sense of the dramatic; you would seem to have a rare ability in choosing your words and even your ordinary speech is rich in supporting gestures. Any line of work which would make it possible for you to appear before people should suit you. There is a rather rich spiritual side to your nature which might well seek expression in verse. It is possible that you will amass considerable wealth; at any rate, you will be wise in the expenditures that you make.

Born on May 31, your life will be greatly enriched by a happy marriage. You will be loath to settle down to an existence even approximating routine. Marriage will prove a steadying and sobering influence in your life, and this is true, be you man or woman. Before marriage, these people are inclined to treat lightly of love and many a broken heart will be left in the wake of these flirtatious and fickle individuals. Thoughtless and even inconsiderate in such matters towards others, they are slow to recover when "jilted" themselves.

Successful people born on May 31: William Rockefeller, capitalist. Will H. Low, artist. Walt Whitman, poet.

ROOSEVELT ATTENDS SERVICES AND LEADS IN TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Fallen War Heroes Honored at Arlington and Other Memorial Rites.

Slumbering heroes of many wars heard again the "muffled drums and roll" in honor of their undying achievements for the Republic.

Quietly, yet with martial music, comrades of the fallen hosts trod the grass where sleep the brave in immortality.

And to that immortality of courage, sacrifice and loyalty the Nation and the Capital bowed head on Memorial Day.

On the green swelling slopes of Arlington, where rest the Unknown Soldier and many companions many walked with solemn tread as they commemorated the warriors' deeds.

Like blood that drenched a hundred fields each poppy on each grave gave up its scarlet dye in the rain and at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier left a crimson stain.

Beneath lowering rain-filled skies, at the Amphitheater, President Roosevelt led the great annual service of the Grand Army of the Republic.

That "a glorious epic will be written of the courage, fortitude and faith of our people in these terrifying years" was Secretary of War Dern's forecast in his address.

The task of the Nation, he declared, inspiration from the fallen. "The times," he said, "are a challenge to our patriotism.

"We are emerging from an economic holocaust which has produced a hundred times the hardship and suffering that Americans endured during the World War. We now have intelligent, fearless leadership. Hope is overcoming fear."

Swanson Honors Akron Dead.

Secretary of the Navy Swanson was also called upon to speak. He paid especial tribute to the men who died in the Akron crash and said:

In our sorrow over the loss of these dear comrades of the Akron, in our deep regrets at losing their valuable services to the national defense, let us remember their great and brave contribution to human progress, to the development of aeronautical and naval science and to the security of our country and its vital interests.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt paused on their return to the White House to attend another special service on the river bank. There a bugler sounded taps as a miniature replica of the Akron, laden with wreaths, was launched by officers of the Fleet Reserve Association.

Five wreaths were placed in the name of the President on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and other spots at Arlington while a sixth was placed on the Mount Vernon vault of George Washington.

The Ampitheater service opened with the sounding of assembly by a Marine Corps bugler as the Presidential party arrived. John H. Shepherd, departmental commander of the G. A. R., called the meeting to order, and introduced James G. Yaden, president of the Grand Army of the Republic Memorial Day Association, which sponsored the gathering.

Music by the Marine Band, vocal solos by Gertrude Lyons and Jeanette Elizabeth McCaffrey and Elsie Jones Reilly were bits of the program which came before Secretary Derns and Swanson's addresses.

At the conclusion Maj. Charles T. Tittmann sang "Eternal Father, Strong to Save" and Capt. Sydney K. Evans, Navy chaplain, delivered the benediction.

Groups Decorate Graves.

All through the forenoon, groups walked through the rain to decorate graves of their loved ones or to place their tribute at the grave of the Unknown Soldier.

The dwindling band of Union veterans had their annual pilgrimage to the cemetery. They marched with faltering tread from Thirteenth and Pennsylvania avenue to Seventeenth and Pennsylvania avenue, where they boarded autos for the remainder of the journey.

In the morning a delegation of Dewey Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, placed a wreath on the tomb of Admiral George Dewey, in the Bethlehem Chapel of Washington Cathedral.

Later at the tomb, the services of the Dewey Congressional Medal Men's Association of Philadelphia were held. The men served under Dewey at the Battle of Manila Bay.

Members of Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Architects made their annual Memorial Day visits to the graves of architects who designed outstanding public buildings here.

The list of speakers included Waddy Wood, Louis Simon, Alexander Trowbridge, Horace Peasley and Francis Sullivan.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper was the principal speaker at the annual Battleground Cemetery service, held under the joint auspices of the Brightwood Citizens Association and the G. A. R.

Three distinguished Army medical officers—Maj. Gen. William C. Gorgas, Brig. Gen. James M. Kennedy and Col. J. Van R. Hoff—were honored at Walter Reed Hospital yesterday morning when their portraits were unveiled.

Special Rite for Costello.

Another specially honored was Vincent B. Costello, first District employe to lose his life in the World War. A special service was held at his grave at Arlington by Costello Post, of the American Legion. Representative Paul J. Kvale, of Minnesota, was one of the speakers.

At the grave of the Unknown Soldier, the local departments of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans laid wreaths and held special services.

The Lido Civic Club placed a wreath at the Unknown's tomb. It was done by the club's president, Dr. Raphael N. Manganaro. Appropriate memorial rites followed.

Navy heroes were honored by Robert E. Peary Ship of the Veterans of Foreign Wars with a service at Hains Point at which a poppy anchor, the gift of Secretary Swanson, was cast into the Potomac.

The Georgetown University Law School also held a memorial service for former students who perished in the World War. Brig. Gen. George Richards was the chief speaker.

The Visayan Circle, Filipino Club, also held memorial service last night.

WAR DEAD HONORED AT GEORGETOWN U.

Brig. Gen. Richards States Every Soldier Should Be Thought a Citizen.

Declaring that "every soldier should be thought a citizen," Brig. Gen. George Richards, U. S. Marine Corps, said in a Memorial Day address yesteray at the Georgetown University School of Law, that "in our history there has never been reason for suspicion of danger to American liberty in the organization of our forces for national defense."

"It is the politician who plots," he said. "It is the demagogue who roars. And it is the statesman who plunges our country into blunders from which war sometimes has resulted."

The two senior classes conducted the memorial service in tribute to more than a score of Georgetown students who sacrificed their lives during the World War. Gen. Richards, who was the principal speaker, scored the efforts of many teachers of history to "deprecate the national spirit of America with too much talk of internationalism."

"It now seems that this thought has run its full course," he said. "Americans know that to save the world we must first save America."

James A. Bowes and John W. Adler made brief addresses on behalf of the seniors and Dean George E. Hamilton and the Rev. Francis E. Lucey, S. J., regent of the school, also paid tributes to the students who died in war service.

A guard of honor placed a wreath on the memorial tablet bearing the names of these former students. The guard consisted of Lieuts. George Francis Diskon, Paul Wyatt Caraway, Sherry Basil Myers and John Meredith Lead, all reserve officers except Caraway who is in the regular army. A Marine trumpeter sounded "taps," and Frederick Barrett Quirk, president of the morning section of the senior class, presided. Senior marshals consisted of Quirk and Ralph S. Boyd, president of the afternoon section of the class, with William E. Heaney, John R. Juten, Walter F. Kolb, Rosa J. Di Lorenzo, William F. Pielsticker and Edmund C. Rogers.

Press Club Bridge Pairs Play for Trophy Tonight

Contract bridge players of the National Press Club and their wives and lady guests will contest tonight for the Victor Smith trophy in the second match of the club's annual bridge tournament. The match tonight will be between matched Mr. and Mrs. pairs. Matched teams of four will play next Wednesday night and the tournament will conclude Wednesday, June 14, with matched pairs exclusively of club members.

Winners in last week's open Mr. and Mrs. match were Mr. and Mrs. Holland Huntington, first; Mr. John O. Williams and Mrs. J. Bart Campbell, second, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Helwig, third. The John H. Edwards cups went to the winners and Mr. Williams and Mrs. Campbell won the cups presented by Mr. Williams, chairman of the club games committee.

TWO LIQUOR TRUCKS COMING HERE SEIZED

5,000 Quarts in Shipment Confiscated in Calvert County, Md.

More than 5,000 quarts of alleged assorted "high-grade" liquor were seized by Federal agents and Washington police early yesterday, when two trucks en route here, were apprehended in Calvert County, Md.

Said to be bonded wares, the alleged liquor was confiscated and taken to Fort McHenry, Md., for storage. The truck drivers, who gave the names of Irving Robert Brooks, of Brownstown, Pa., and Irving George Nolen, of Baltimore, Md., were taken to Baltimore to await hearings set for next week.

Learning of the shipment, five Federal agents, accompanied by George C. Deyoe and William McEwen, of the local vice squad, lay in wait near Huntington, Md. The trucks were stopped as they entered the town limits.

Police said the confiscation represented a shipment of imported liquor brought by boat to the southern Maryland shore. The Federal agents included J. E. Beckett, Richard Monnett, R. C. Hitt, Walter H. Schultz, and W. R. Blandford.

Swimmer Saved in River

Exhausted by his efforts against the current of the Potomac River, Oscar M. Freeny, 34, of 3010 Wisconsin avenue northwest, secretary-treasurer of the W. M. Freeny Co., tailors, yesterday was pulled from the water by Vincent Herman, 509 Rittenhouse street northwest.

According to Montgomery County police, Freeny was swimming with a party of friends in the Potomac across from Stop 27 on Conduit road. He went too far into the surging waters and his strength began to give out. He was being pounded against rocks in the river when Herman reached him and managed to drag him back to High Island, a mass of rocks near shore.

The Bethesda Rescue Squad was summoned, but he had been brought to shore when the firemen arrived. The rescue squad members gave both men restoratives and first aid and then took Freeny to Georgetown Hospital, where he was treated for cuts and bruises, and later went home.

BATTLEFIELD RITES HELD DESPITE RAIN

Secretary Roper Points to Present Opportunity for Civic Patriotism.

An interlude in yesterday afternoon's almost persistent rainfall was filled with a picturesque ceremony at the Battleground National Cemetery, conducted under auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Brightwood Citizens Association.

Delivering the principal address, Daniel C. Roper, Secretary of Commerce, declared opportunity for civic patriotism is greater now than at any other time. The problems of the depression are a challenge to civic consciousness, he said.

He expressed hope that the ideals of patriotism will pervade the World Economic Conference at London, pointing out that the only hope for elimination of war is through international coperation.

John M. Kline, senior vice commander of the Department of the Potomac of the Grand Army of the Republic, presided. A musical program was given by the Third United States Cavalry Band.

Maj. John Deavy conducted the raising of the flag and salute to the colors. Orders of the Grand Army of the Republic were read by Dr. C. V. Petteys. A solo, "The Unknown Soldier," was sung by Dr. A. Owen Penney. This was followed by recitation of "The Star-Spangled Banner," by Arthur B. White.

Mrs. Selma S. Klein rendered "The Americans Come," and John Claggett Proctor, vice chairman of the exercises, recited an original poem.

The song, "Just Before the Battle, Mother," was sung by L. F. Randolph. Theodore Hardy recited Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

Children of local public schools decorated the graves.

Legion Decorates Army Nurse Tomb

At the request of the Bessie P. Edwards Post of the American Legion in Boston, the U. S. S. Jacob Jones Post, of Washington, yesterday placed a wreath on the tomb of Bessie Porter Edwards, an Army nurse, who died at Fort Meade, Md., October 13, 1918. Miss Edwards was the daughter of Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, commander of the Yankee Division of the American Expeditionary Forces.

The Jacob Jones Post, comprised of yeomenettes in active service during the war, also placed flags and wreaths on the graves of 35 of their comrades in various cemeteries in and around Washington. The Bessie P. Edwards Post, of Boston, is composed of Army nurses and named for Miss Edwards, who died in service.

GRAVESIDE TRIBUTE PAID TO ARCHITECTS

Ceremonies Honor Five Who Contributed to Beauty of Washington.

Tribute was paid to the memories of five architects who contributed to the architectural beauty of Washington by a delegation of members of the Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Architects yesterday morning.

At Congressional Cemetery the delegation placed wreathes on the unmarked grave of Robert Mills, who designed the Treasury; the graves of Dr. William Thornton, designer of the Capitol, the Octagon House and the Tudor House in Georgetown, and the tomb of George Hadfield, who designed the courthouse.

Louis Simon, of the supervising architect's office of the Treasury, spoke at the Mills grave, while Waddy Wood and Alexander Trowbridge spoke at the tombs of Thornton and Hadfield.

Horace W. Peaslee spoke at the Arlington National Cemetery ceremony during which a wreath was placed on the grave of L'Enfant, designer of Washington.

At Mount Olivet Cemetery the grave of James Hoban, designer of the White House, was honored. Francis Sullivan, president of the chapter, spoke.

TRAFFIC TOLL TO DATE.

The indiscriminate use of a horn may defeat its own purpose. Instead of warning pedestrians and drivers to take heed, the sudden loud noise of an automobile horn may cause the person or vehicle in danger of collision to become frightened and lose control.

Use your horn sparingly and only when the occasion warrants.

"Be Careful!"

BONUS ARMY CHIEFS PLAN CAPITOL PLEA

400 "Right Wing" Veterans Seek Shelter Pending Forestry Action.

"Right wing" bonus army leaders plan today to seek congressional influence for the accommodation of the approximately 400 veterans comprising the reforestation march on Washington which materialized Monday night.

A spokesman for the "right wing" committee, quartered at 1348 Fairmont street northwest, last night said that Mike Thomas and other leaders of the "right wing" today would go before an informal group of Veterans Affairs Committee of the House to lay before them the problem of the woods jobs seekers.

The 400, who came in by freight and hitch-hike routes Monday, were quartered at relief agency shelters and in other billets arranged for by sympathizers.

There was no congregation of the men yesterday and no signs of any untoward demonstration. Police were not taking any unusual measures and all indications were that the newest bonus march would be taken care of in some manner very shortly, unless large numbers of reinforcements begin to come in. This is not expected.

The "right wing" leaders are those who gained leadership in the recent bonus march convention at Fort Hunt and helped to bring about acceptance of the Roosevelt reforestation offer.

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, has reiterated the Government's stand that no more men will be enrolled in the forest corps at Washington.

Many of the men here for the woods jobs, however, contend that they were directed here by Veterans' Administration regional offices and some of them have letters which purport to bear out this contention.

Portraits Given Medical Center

Portraits of three distinguished Army medical officers were presented to the Army Medical Center at Walter Reed Hospital yesterday morning in a Memorial Day ceremony.

Surg. Gen. R. U. Patterson recalled the heroic work of Maj. Gen. William C. Gorgas at the Panama Canal and his distinguished service as surgeon general in presenting his portrait to the center in behalf of its officers and nurses. Gen. A. E. Truby, commander of the center, received the Gorgas painting and the other portraits.

Presentation of the portrait of Brig. Gen. James M. Kennedy was made by Gen. C. R. Darnall, retired, in behalf of friends. Gen. M. W. Ireland, former surgeon general, presented the painting of Col. J. Van R. Hoff in behalf of Mrs. Hoff. All the portraits were done by Bernard Godwin.

DEWEY IS HONORED WITH TWO TRIBUTES

Local Spanish War Veterans and Philadelphians Place Wreaths at Tomb.

The memory of Admiral George Dewey, hero of Manila Bay, was honored in two ceremonies yesterday at his tomb in Bethlehem Chapel at Washington Cathedral. Men who had served under him at the historic naval encounter journeyed from Philadelphia to pay tribute.

The first service was held at 9:30 yesterday morning by a delegation from the Dewey Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, under the direction of former Commander V. L. Wooldridge.

Shortly before noon the Philadelphia delegation headed by H. A. Neithercott, past national commander of the Dewey Congressional Medal Men's Association, and Anthony F. Coan, commander of the Joseph B. Coghlan Chapter of the association, placed an admiral's shield at the Dewey tomb. Each year a fresh shield, made of flowers, with four stars on a blue field, is placed at the tomb on Memorial Day.

Canon John W. Gummere, of the Washington Cathedral staff, conducted a brief service, and a squad of sailors from the Washington Navy Yard formed a guard of honor under the command of Z. A. Kocinski. Jules Bolle, bugler, of the Navy Band, blew taps.

Mrs. Grace Coan, wife of Commander Coan, placed a wreath on the tomb for Mrs. Dewey, who is buried with the naval hero.

Among those in the delegation were: Lieut. Fred L. Anderson, of Newark, N. J., who fought on the U. S. S. Boston; Burke Singman, of Washington, of the U. S. S. Petrel, and Jonathan F. Schmitt, of Philadelphia, of the U. S. S. Boston.

The Coans' four children, Anthony, jr., Charles, Grace and George Dewey, were present.

Capital Remains Mecca of Tourists

Despite the great decline in motor traffic throughout the United States, Washington is holding its own as a mecca for tourists, it was announced by Curtis Hodges, director of the Greater National Capital Committee.

A two-hour daily check on all traffic over three main highways leading into Washington shows that approximately 130,00 motorists have come to the city during the last three months.

Although the inauguration ceremonies in March drew thousands of motorists to Washington, the check reveals that the month of April far exceeded March. Excluding Memorial Day visitors, motorists in Washington last week exceeded 10,000 cars.
